Fr. Harrington, S.J.
President

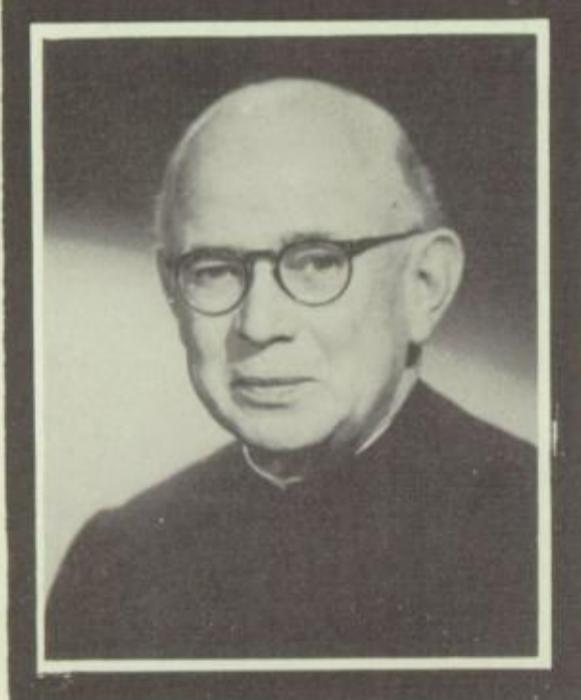

Loyola High School
1901 VENICE BOULEVARD
LOS ANGELES 6, CALIFORNIA

On all sides we hear predictions of things to come — most of them very pessimistic and filled with fear. Christ's doctrine is one of hope and optimism, because it proclaims man's true and eternal destiny.

Loyola has based her whole system of education on this Christian foundation and we urge you to cling to these ideals in spite of what you may see and hear about you. Peace will come to the world and into your own lives only from the never-changing principles of true faith and morality.

God bless you, Seniors!!

J. J. Harrington, S.J.

Fr. John Madden, S.J.

He passed to his Lord, February 21, 1951.
He gave his life for the education of youth.
Requiescat in Pace.

Fr. Saussotte, S.J.
Principal

LOYOLA HIGH SCHOOL
Office of the Principal

Congratulations upon graduation. You have reached your goal. New spheres of endeavor, however, lie ahead of you.

The fear and turmoil of the world you are entering today is relatively small, for it is of men's making. In a fuller sense the world grows more wonderful and more beautiful. He dwells within it. Our effort and yours has been to prepare you to enter your new responsibilities with courage and a deep faith in God, your fellow men and yourselves.

I wish you success and happiness in the plans you most cherish. It has been a pleasure to have lived with you. May God ever bless you.

Father Saussotte

LOYOLA HIGH SCHOOL
Office of Vice-Principal

Every boy has the makings of a man; but he need not become one if he does not wish. Loyola plans to steer you through adolescence into a splendid Christian manhood.

A true Christian personality is one that is self-possessed, free from the tyrannies of instinct and emotion.

When you think that Jesuit discipline is severe, keep in mind that our only interest is to fashion you into a self-possessed Catholic gentleman, ready to meet a ruthless Twentieth century with Christlike strength and toughness of mind and of will.

It is enjoyable to work with young men who have the capacity for that twin toughness.

Father Carlin.

WHAT MAKES LOYOLA?

Catholic Action

At Loyola every activity should be Catholic Action, because it is planned to send healthy, intelligent Catholics into the world. But some activities are specifically Catholic Action:

Grueling hours were spent by the Catechists in pounding what little religion they could into the minds of their restless pupils. The ever-faithful Sanctuary Society found it quite difficult to rise after the night of a game or dance to serve early Mass on many a freezing morning. Sodalists have keen memories of that suffocating, smog-thick January 5, when all sat silent about the gloomy Immaculate Heart Library, having found all their attempts to discuss the Mass seemingly to no avail.

Of course the happy hours of Catholic Action were many; but the hours of sacrifice put a genuine seal of approval on the work. There were few obvious results, many seeming failures. But through it all we know that the effects of Catholic Action evolve slowly—slowly like the growth of an acorn into a sturdy oak tree.

Senior Sodality

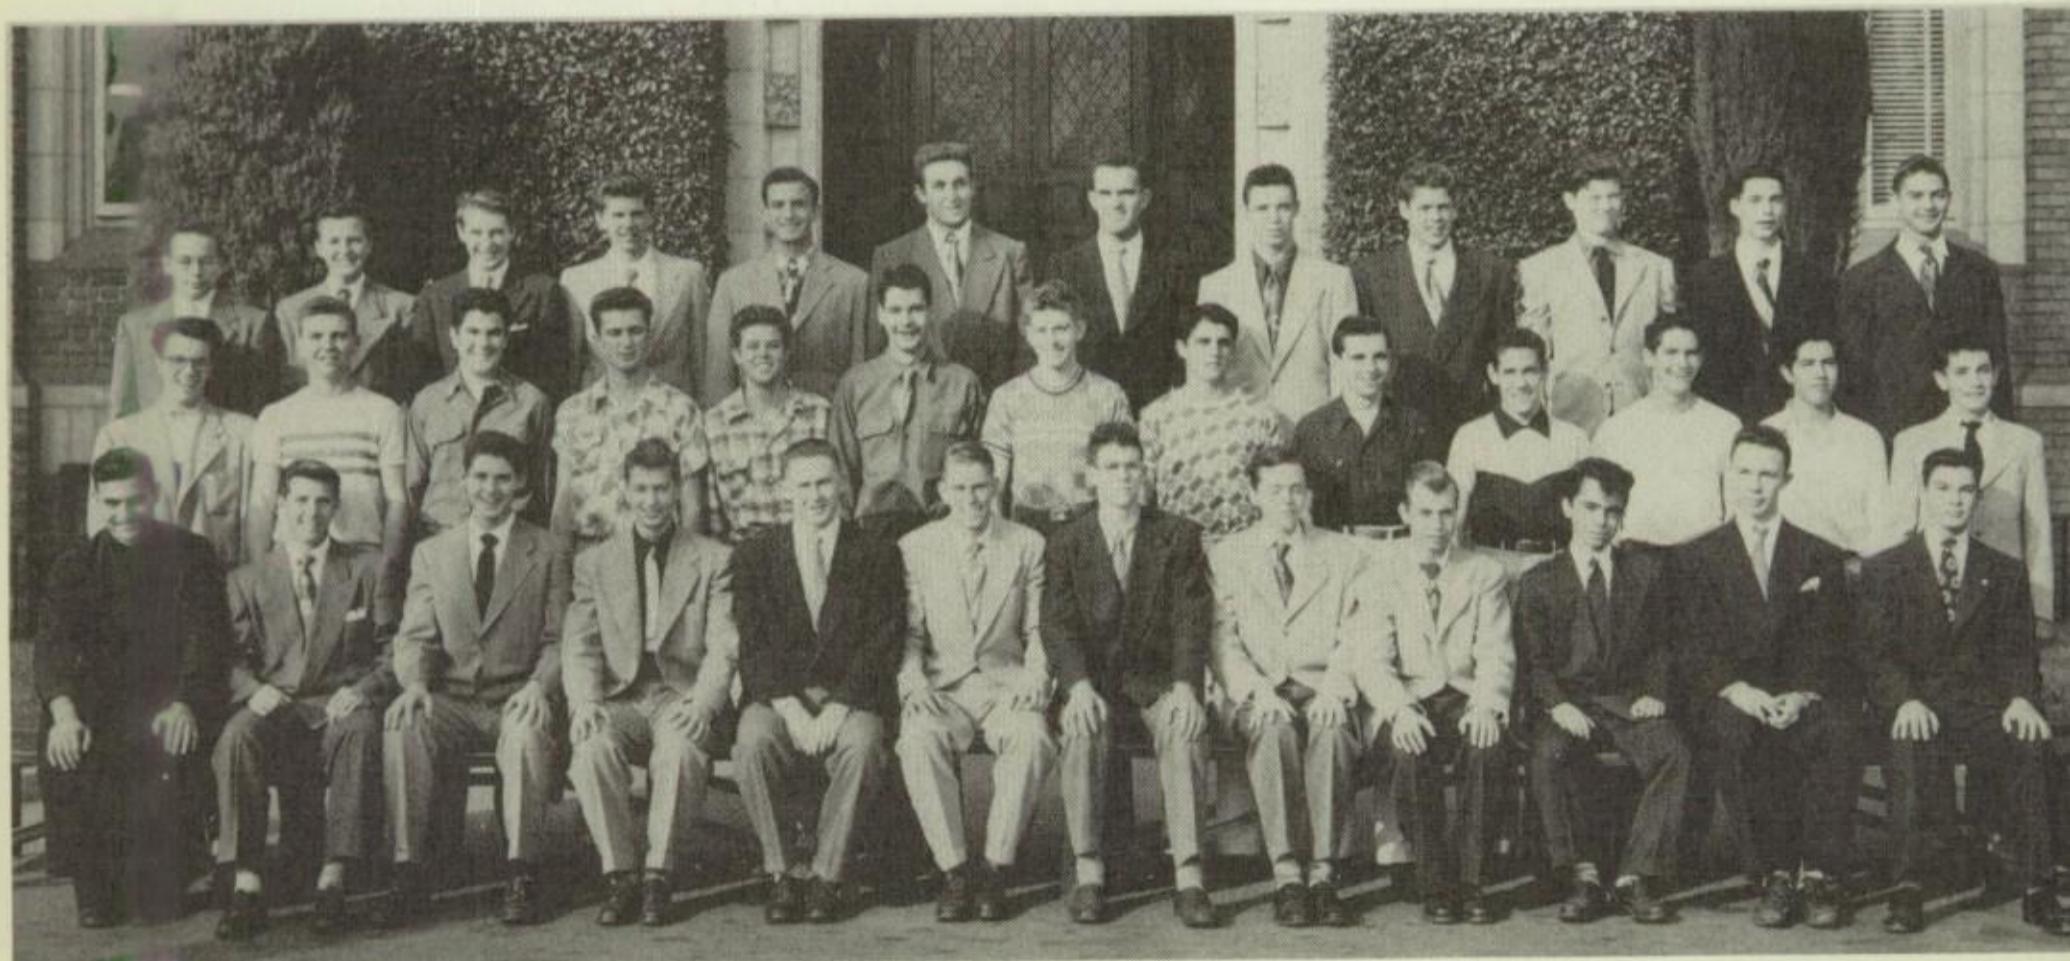

Bob Kinsella leads the discussion group on Catholic Education with Mr. Johnson, S.J., as moderator.

OFFICERS: George Seeber, Bill Wood, Bob Kinsella, Albert Cornelius.

This year's Senior Sodality of Our Lady, directed by Prefect Bill Wood with Mr. Fernandez, S.J. as moderator, was divided into small cells, which, with the help of Mr. Johnson, S.J., discussed everything from prayer to ordinary dates.

Due to the persistent effort of Wood, Cornelius, Kinsella, and Seeber, the Twice Daily Club ("IT") was brought back into existence.

All in all this year's Sodality has prepared a few more Loyolans to cope successfully with the pagan world about them.

OFFICERS: Jim Boyle, Pete Toomey, Vernon Kulla, Anthony Sauer, Tom Fish.

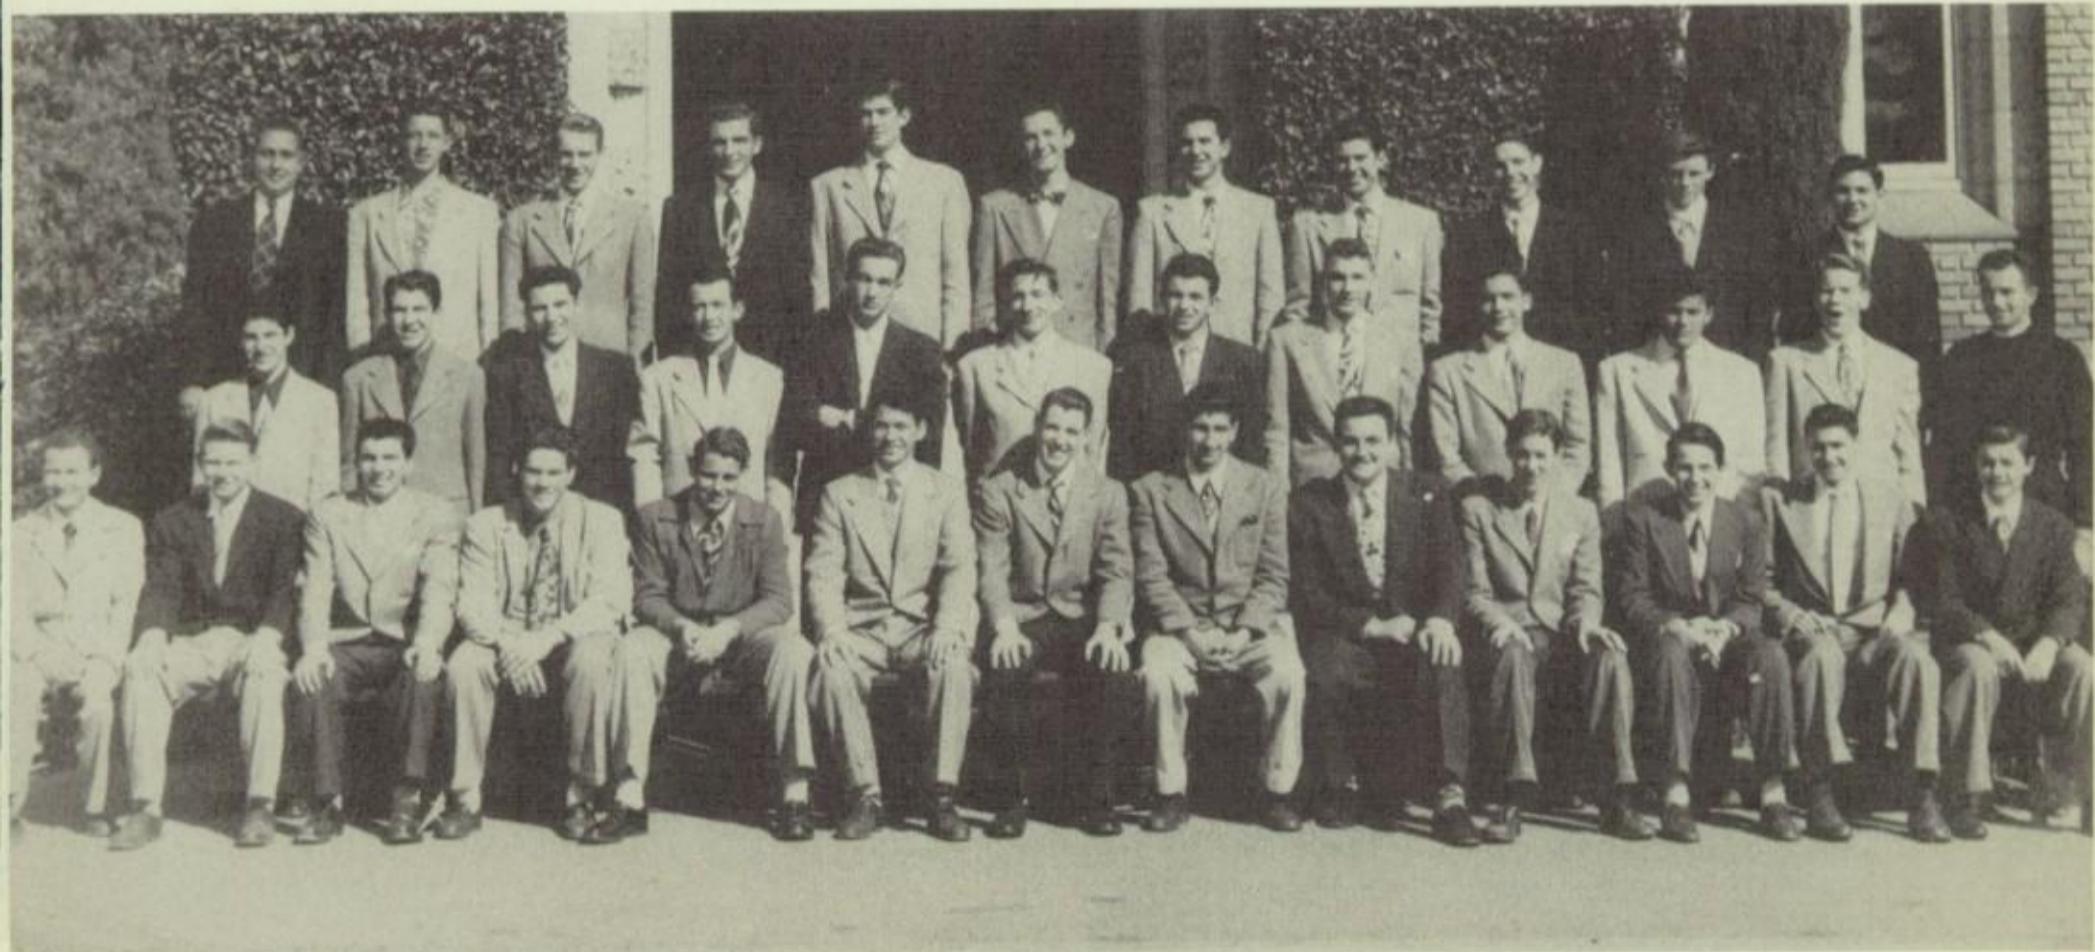

It is improbable that a good part of any high school sodality ever kept all the rules. The Junior Sodality however had some success in saturating the minds of its members with Catholic principles. The discussions, by which this was accomplished, brought out the omnipresent strength of secularism and suggested the only solution—more frequent Mass for more Catholics.

If the discussions, the attendance at Mass, and the Rosary help to turn out stalwart leaders in the different walks of life, then this year's sodality will have made a substantial contribution toward a brighter tomorrow.

Sophomore Sodality

In 1950-51, the Sophomore Sodality, with Father Crowley as moderator, engaged in many spiritual activities. The sodalists wheeled patients to Mass at the General Hospital. They encouraged weekly participation at Mass. The sodality even created a merit system—at the end of every month slips of paper were handed out on which the sodalists marked the number of visits, weekday Masses, general hospital (200 merits), speeches before the sodality, "spiritual readings and daily sacrifices.

There was entertainment also: one all-day winter picnic at Snow Valley, a social at the beginning of the year, and hot dogs at Griffith Park. Thus they mixed play with prayer. This year marked a successful period in the Sophomore Sodality. Loyola found in it a valuable asset.

Freshman Probation Sodality

FRESHMEN SODALITY OFFICERS

Prefect.....Don Staley
Vice Prefect.....John Bussino
Secretary.....Michael Crouch
Treasurer.....Mike Monahan

Early in the year about a hundred freshmen found themselves organized into a "Probation Sodality". This was according to a program by which the candidates learn the rules by taking part in activities which put the rules into practice as they are introduced. Due to local difficulties, however, the program had to be abandoned; but fifty of the candidates continued to work with the moderator, following a more practical though less interesting plan. These will form the Sophomore Division of the Sodality next year.

A dry study of the rules will have been their chief activity, but a few social advantages of the Sodality will not be forgotten. The "probationers" know that it was with their help that the moderator was able to sponsor a winner-roast, a football excursion to Fullerton, a snow trip to Big Bear Lake, and other holiday outings.

Probationers are put through basic training—8 to 8:30 every Thursday morning.

WHAT MAKES LOYOLA?

Successful Graduates

Graduation day, 1951. Once again Loyolans go to take their place among men. Four years of vigorous and well-balanced education—can they be called successful graduates?

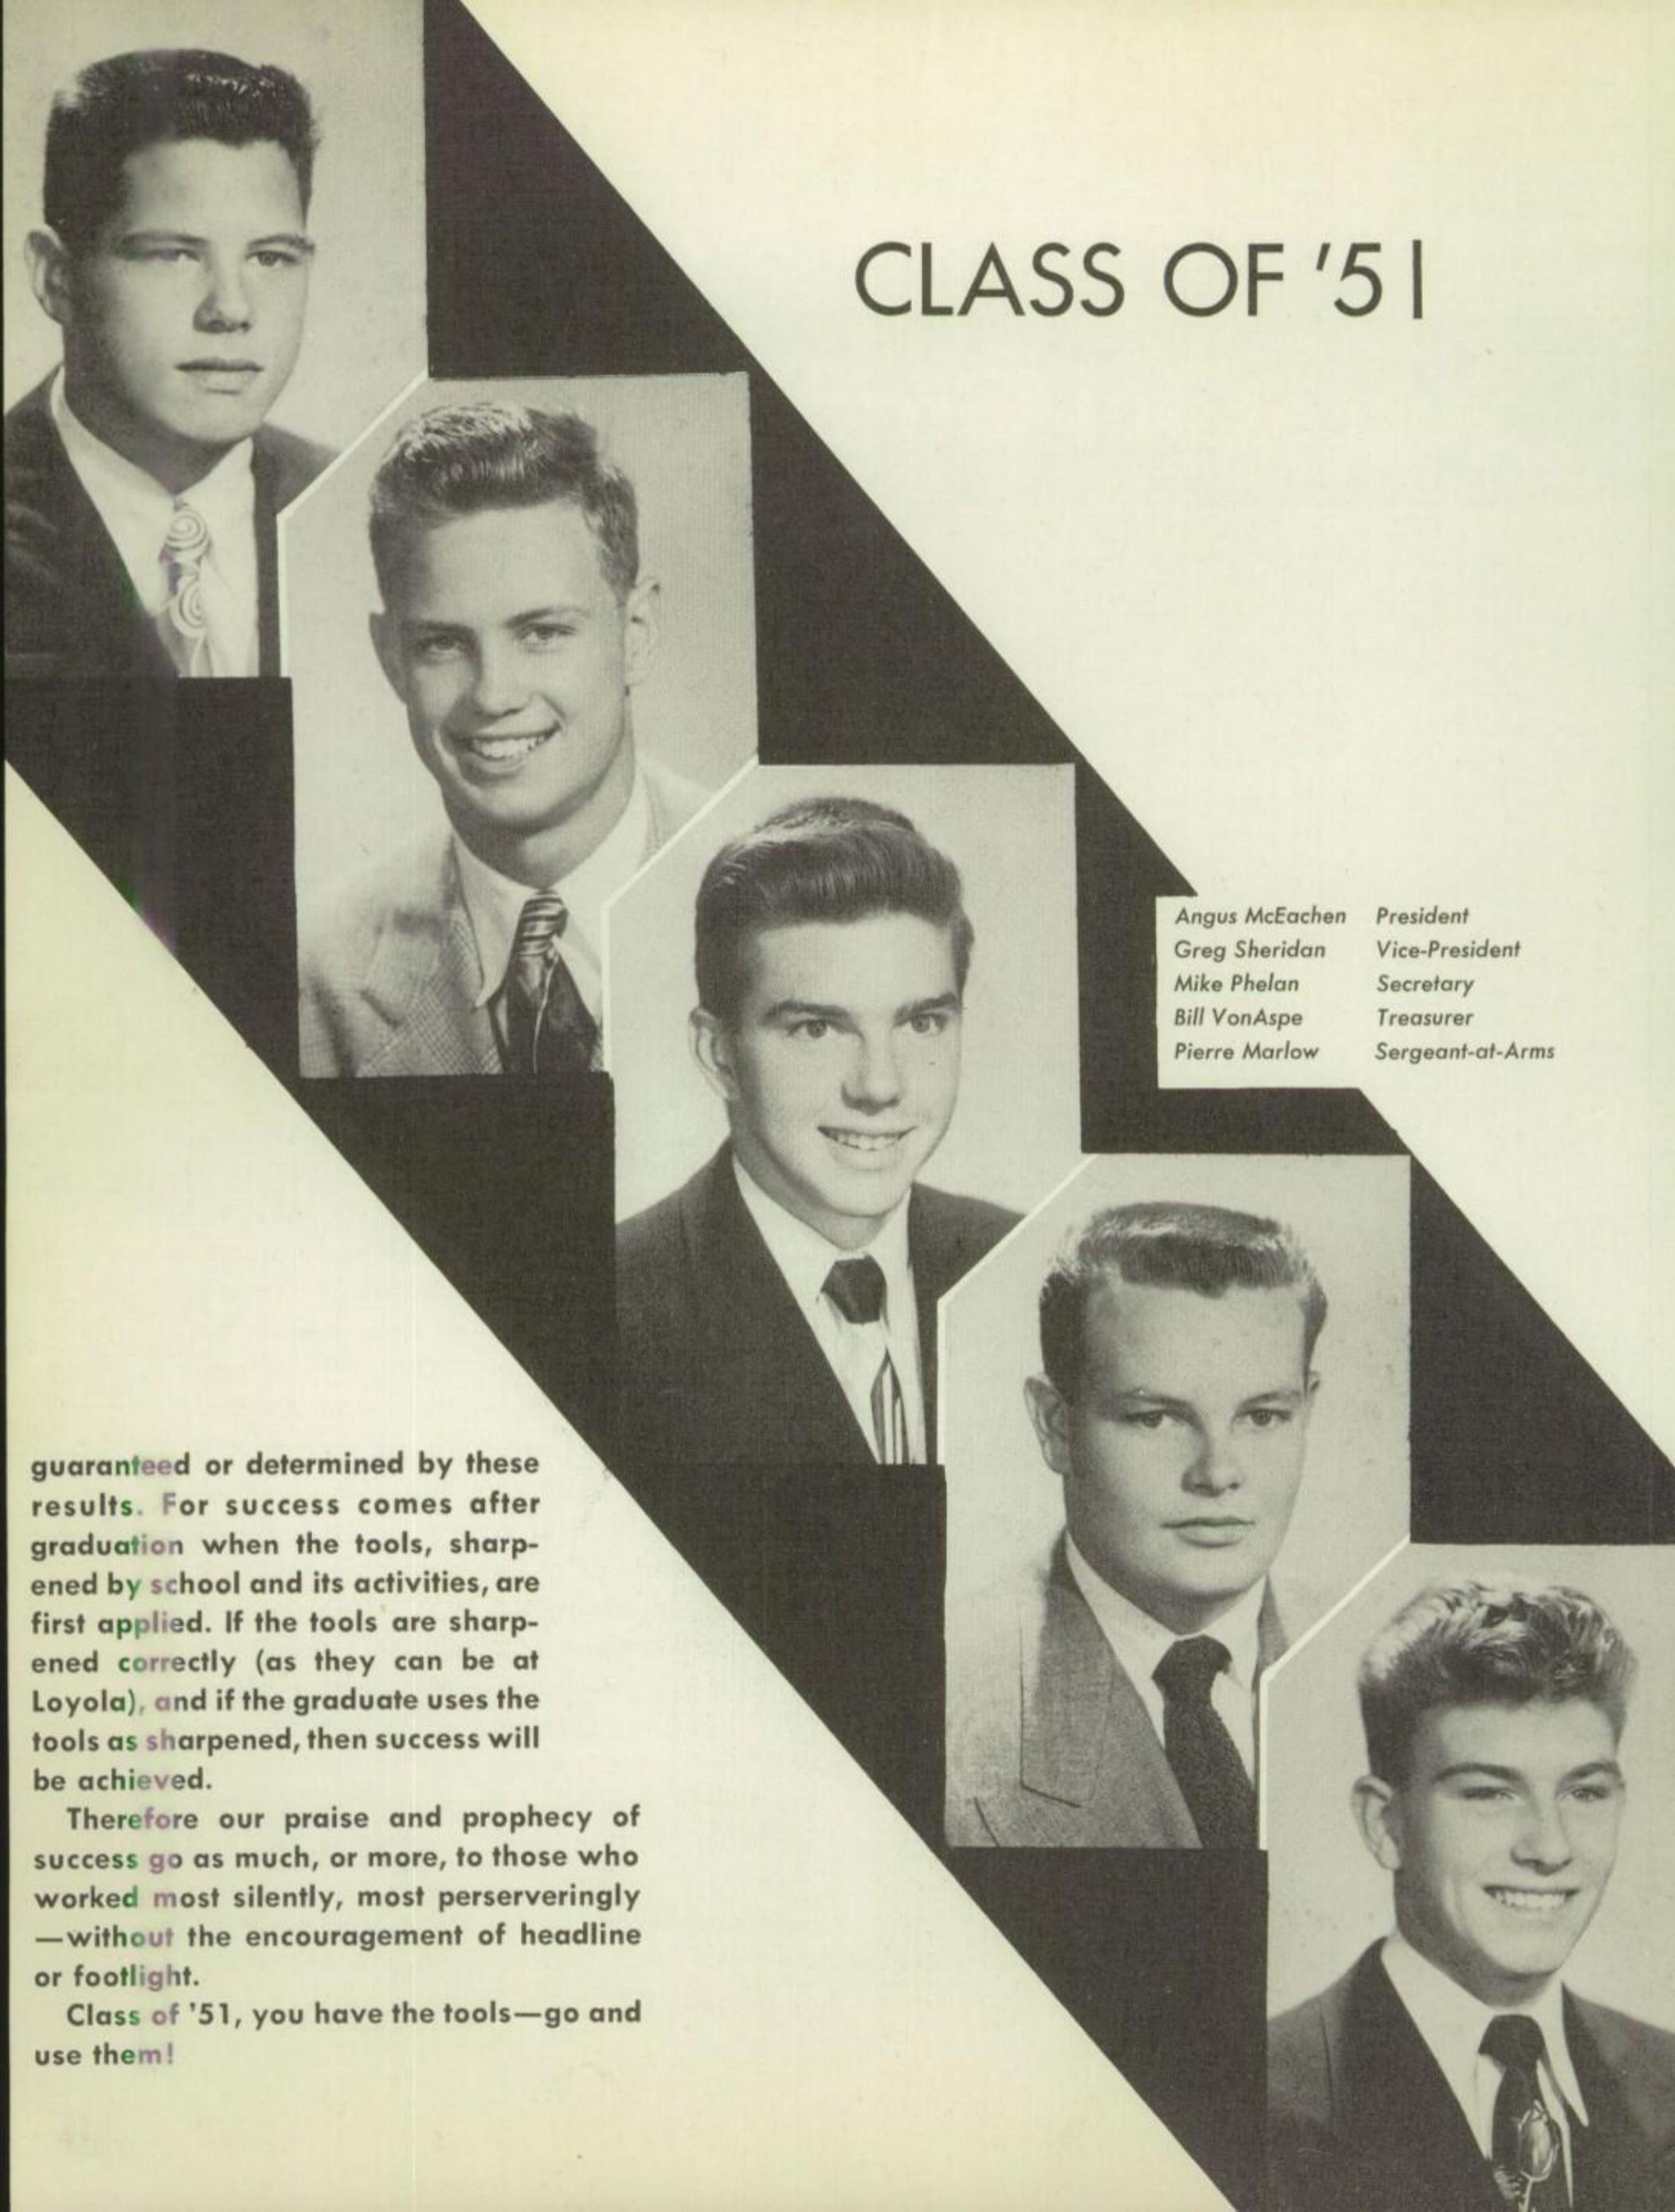

Among them we have a representative cross-section of all Loyola activities.

In the more intellectual pursuit of debating, Representative John Mullen and Senator Bill Wood were able to out-reason and out-argue most opponents. Dahlson, Jonsen, Sterling, Speak, and Sullivan combined their talents on the stage to present "The Hasty Heart." Out of the efforts of Vince Thorpe and Jim Goodman the Loyalist often came out on time. Howard LeVaux placed sixth in the nation in the Hearst History contest. Bob Kinsella won the Atwater Kent Newsboy Scholarship.

In Athletics, Greg Sheridan, Pat Ryan, and high-scoring Angus McEachen led the stalwarts of the gridiron to a Catholic League Championship. "Barnettmen" attained a second Catholic Title this year, due, partially at least, to the efforts of Captain Skip Luer and Al Ebright. Father Gaffney's horsehiders were topped by Ferrante, Reed, Whittington, and Badovinac. John Flynn sparkled for the tennis team, while Joe Drey and Bill Browne starred for the Cub tank men.

This list merely touches the surface of the achievements of this year's seniors. Success, however, is not really guaranteed or determined by these results. For success comes after graduation when the tools, sharpened by school and its activities, are first applied. If the tools are sharpened correctly (as they can be at Loyola), and if the graduate uses the tools as sharpened, then success will be achieved.

Therefore our praise and prophecy of success go as much, or more, to those who worked most silently, most perseveringly —without the encouragement of headline or footlight.

Class of '51, you have the tools—go and use them!

WHAT MAKES LOYOLA?

The Printed and Spoken Word

The classroom is not sufficient. It does not complete a man's education. There he receives the tools, so to speak, with which to face the world and turn it to Christ. He needs facility. He should have opportunity to practice and try out these tools.

The printed and spoken word, expressed at Loyola through the Loyalist, El Camino, and Debating give the student this chance. Success as well as hardships, like those encountered in putting out the February 25th Loyalist, help prepare the Loyolan to face and transform the world. Success on the stage after weeks of grueling practice gave the actors a foundation for their venture into the world. Student congress imbued the debators with an understanding of politics and parliamentary law. And finally, this humble edition of the El Camino gave to all its workers practical training in layout and business, along with practice in patience and hope!

Thus, when the Loyola student goes into the world, he is equipped—equipped not only to make a living, but to make the world livable. He is better able to influence others, to lead his fellow men towards happiness and towards God.

Bill Wood, Phil Battaglia, Arturo Murillo, Owen Fiore, Jack Pike, Mr. Kennedy, S.J., Rennie O'Donnell, and Ronnie Axelrod.

Debating

This past year, Loyola's Junior and Senior Debating teams gained real knowledge of economics along with valuable experience in debating. The National Topic was "Resolved that the People of the U.S. should reject the Welfare State."

The Junior and Senior debators under the direction of Mr. Kennedy S.J., entered several tournaments which provided top competition.

Bill Wood and John Mullen were the only Seniors who debated. Wood, with several years practice at Loyola, and Mullen, with an excellent debating record from Creighton Prep in Omaha, proved a formidable forensic combination. The Junior Debators, though perhaps lacking in experience, showed great promise for next year. The respective teams were Phil Battaglia and Owen Fiore; Jack Pike and R. O'Donnell; Victor Penunuri and Arturo Murillo; Ronnie Axelrod and Patrick Hanavan.

In the Alhambra Tournament in November of 1950, our teams fared well against such outstanding opponents as John Marshall, L.A., and Mark Keppel. Wood and Mullen won two, lost none; Battaglia and Fiore won two, lost none; Pike and O'Donnell lost two; Axelrod and Hanavan won one and lost one. In the L.A. Tournament the Senior team of Wood and Mullen won two while the Junior team of Battaglia and Fiore won one.

February 11th and 12th marked the departure of the Debators to the City Hall for the annual Student Congress. Seniors in the congress were Wood and Brink, Senators; Representatives were O'Donnell, Battaglia, Pike, Fiore, Murillo, and Mullen. Bill Wood was chairman of the Social Welfare Committee, Phil Battaglia chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and R. O'Donnell was chairman of the Foreign Committee. Phil Battaglia also was the Party Whip and was elected to the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives, while Brink was elected Sergeant-at-Arms.

Throughout the course of the year, our Debators stuck to the basic Christian principles. Truth along with persuasive argument saw them through a successful season.

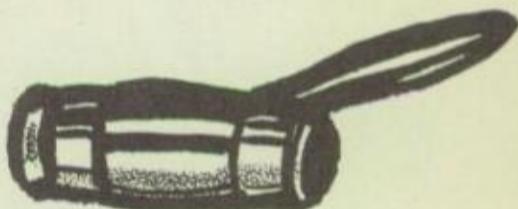

The same people as above; only Fiore and Mullen face the camera and Mr. Kennedy, S.J., looks dejected.

Phil Battaglia, Speaker of the House, calls hopefully "Order, Order" as members of Student Congress haggle over parliamentary procedure.

"$9.00 for Alhambra! $8.00 for L.A. High! $6.00 for Student Congress! $25.00 for Debate Manuals! and $20 for Marshall! Gentlemen" reports Treasurer Jack Pike, "We're broke." Mr. Kennedy, S.J., Bill Wood, and Pat Hanavan look on unimpressed.

A SENIOR GOLD MEDAL VICTORY? Seniors Wood and Mullen seem to think so. "What do those Juniors know about Hawaiian Statehood? In fact, what do they know about anything?"

OR A JUNIOR VICTORY? "Let's see", muses Pat Hanavan, "Hawaiian Statehood? Of course I have only five thousand pages of notes on that, but I think we'll take those Seniors anyway."

Society

Successful and unique are the words which best describe the activities of the Dramatic Society of 1950-51. The major production, The Hasty Heart, a comedy drama by John Patrick, demonstrated this uniqueness.

The scenery, designed and executed by Jack Curry, assisted by the Dramatic Society stage crew, was completely the result of student ingenuity and workmanship. For the first time the director, Mr James Dempsey, S.J. was chosen from the Jesuit faculty. The year also marked our initial appearance on the stage of the Catholic Women's Club.

This smaller stage presented a challenge to the actors which they ably met and overcame. The enthusiastic response which greeted the production fully justifies the "successful" note describing the year's activities.

Con Dahlson held the dramatic lead as the dour Scot, with Dick Jonsen cast as the easy-going Yank. Barry Meehan shone in the comic lead. These were capably supported by Jim Sterling, Tom Speak, Tom Whelan, John Wittmond, Pat Sullivan and Vince Thorpe.

Plans for the remainder of the school year, as this article goes to press, include the presentation of a one-act play "Strike Four" in the Pasadena statewide One-Act Tournament, and participation in the one-act play festival planned for the Catholic High Schools to be held in May at Immaculate Heart.

The Loyalist

The 1950-51 LOYALIST, though continuing in the same general pattern of Loyola's student publications for the past twenty years, brought in some new innovations which classed it among Loyola's best school papers. Editor-in-chief Vince Thorpe enjoyed the co-operation (by day and by night) of Managing Editor Jim Goodman, Sports Editor Pat Sullivan, Asst. Sports Editor Jerry Culligan, Associate Editor Phil Battaglia, Business Mgr. Owen Fiore, and Photographer Mac Haggerty.

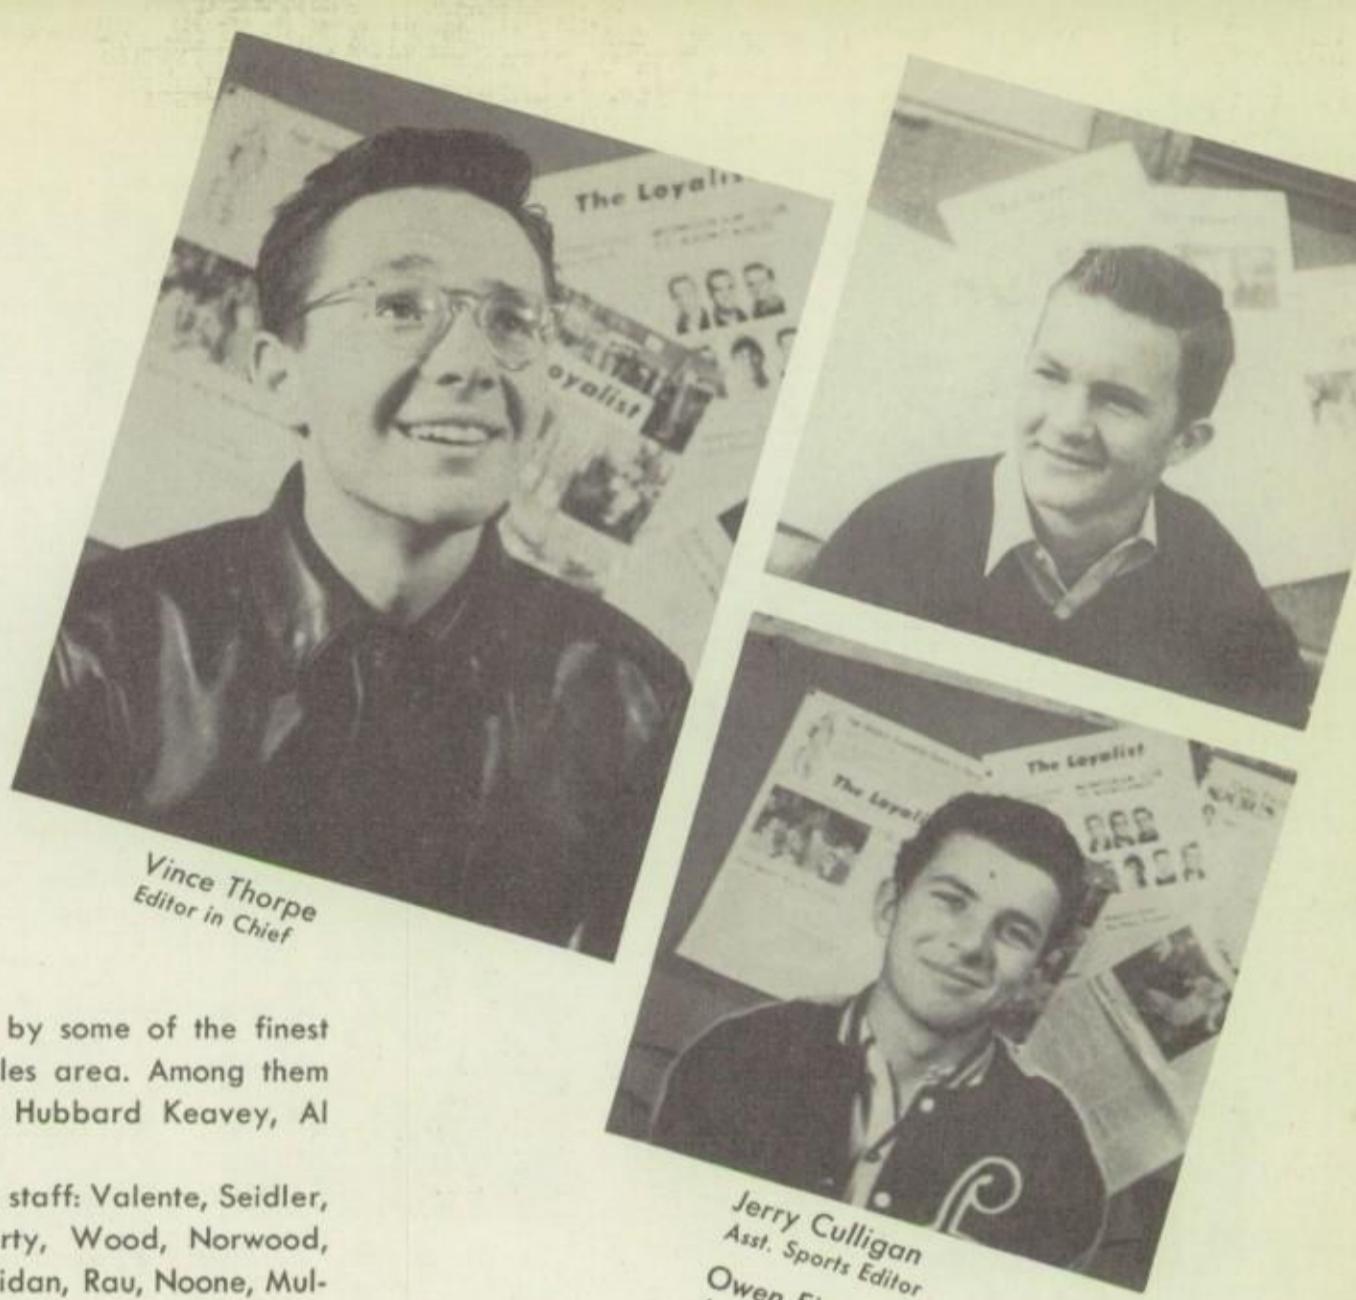

This year's paper showed a gradual trend toward a semi-magazine style, a style which is becoming more and more popular in the monthly high school publication field. The Christmas magazine in particular was a success, and acclaimed by all.

The Catholic High School Press Day, sponsored by the editors of the LOYALIST, attracted students from as far away as list

San Diego. As usual it was attended by some of the finest speakers and writers in the Los Angeles area. Among them were Frank Scully, Ralph Alexander, Hubbard Keavey, Al Santoro, and Ira Walsh.

All in all the LOYALIST is proud of its staff: Valente, Seidler, Mullen, Dealy, Heuer, Kanne, Haggerty, Wood, Norwood, Del Re, McGrath, Knox, Maguire, Sheridan, Rau, Noone, Mulville, Stueck, O'Neil.

It is proud to have presented the news and recorded the activities of the school; it is happy to have played its part in molding the views of Loyola students during this past year.

This is Loyola's first experiment with a "litho" yearbook. Till now the El Camino has been printed on a regular letter-press, where pictures and type are composed and "locked up" by professionals in a printer's shop. Because of the difficulty and expense of hacksawing a zinc block, the pictures were invariably square or oblong. A lithographed yearbook, on the other hand, is set entirely by the students and its composition is wonderfully flexible.

The pictures are cut by scissors and pasted into place before the final zinc impression is made. They can assume therefore an infinite variety of shapes.

Litho alone made possible the "modern" format of this book: for example, the angles in which the faculty pictures are set, and the dynamic shape of the football and basketball sections. Of course since the final layout is done by inexperienced students an infinite variety of mistakes can be made. Notice for example how the distance of our type below each picture varies. Notice how we wisely enlarged the size of our picture captions after seeing the basketball section completed!

What were the steps essential in publishing the 1951 El Camino? During summer school the editors met and determined the rough idea—how many pages to football? to faculty? to debating? etc., What theme?—"Holy Year," "Calendar of the school year", "What makes Loyola great"? Finally in November, we dropped the word "great", leaving people to judge that for themselves.

Next a "dummy" was composed. By the end of October with the help of an artist downtown, all individual pictures were planned; their approximate shape determined.

Gradually photos were taken, developed, enlarged and put aside in the files. The editors then trimmed them to appropriate shapes and glued them in place.

Captions were composed. Incidentally, our first attempt at identifying the class proved disastrous. Those assigned to check the spelling with the school files, checked instead with their feeling of how the name should be spelled. The result—a large bill from the printers for innumerable changes!

Mac Haggerty

Next we selected the kind of type (mainly this modern "Futura Medium" and "Futura Demi-Bold") and its size (8 point for group identification, and 10 point for articles.) We're still not convinced that 8 pt. is sufficiently large.

The printer sets the type and returns it on glossy white paper. The lines are cut out, mounted with white scotch tape directly in place beneath the pictures, and the whole is sent to the lithographers to be transferred photographically onto the zinc rollers of the rotary press.

Deadlines as usual were ignored. That the book has finally appeared is due to the persistent efforts of "Ezio" Pinza, Bill Valente, and Rennie O'Donnell on the drawing board; of George Seeber and Conrad Dahlson with the sports pages; of Greg Klaas, Jim Francis, Laverne Gaffney, and Bill Wood, all of whom typed, glued, planned, and generally filled in on every job.

Deliberately the names of photographers are left for the last and climactic position: Mac Haggerty, with his Speed Graphic, Bill Plunkett, ready with his Strobe for all interior shots, and Johnny Figini, always on hand with his Exacta.

No one can be blamed entirely for the many errors; all must share credit for whatever is of artistic merit, for whatever in these pages is worthy of being saved as a memory of years at Loyola—photographers, artists, business men, picture-trimming men, glue-bottle men, typists...

We are grateful even to the broom.

TOP: On the other end of the camera for a change, Plunkett, Figini, and Haggerty pose for a shot. MIDDLE: El Camino takes shape as Valente, Seidler, Pinza, Seeber, and in the foreground, Regan accomplish some work at last. Brink, Noyes, Hubanks, Plunkett, Jones, Porter, Tarvid, Powers, Thompson, Megowan, Robinson, Haggerty, Fish, McAnany, Sullivan, Knoll.

Dads' Club

One of the vital elements in the affairs of Loyola High School is its Dad's Club. Composed of the fathers of the students, it has made many worthwhile contributions to the success of the school. With its annual Fiesta, its yearly Communion and Breakfast, and its other timely activities, it has developed and stimulated the spiritual and social atmosphere of the school, and it has given to both fathers and boys fond memories of Loyola which will not easily be forgotten.

Current officers include Benno M. Brink, president; Edmund F. Schnieders, vice-president; Jerry Knoll, secretary; Joseph T. Enright, assistant secretary; A. A. Mercola, treasurer; and George Osterman, assistant treasurer.

Mothers' Club

The Henry Welch Guild is celebrating its twentieth anniversary. The social affairs of the group were a wonderful help in becoming acquainted. The tea in October started the year's activities. A Christmas Supper followed, to which all the parents were invited. The traditional "Birthday Luncheon" was well-planned to be the outstanding event of the year. Most important, an annual day of recollection conducted by Fr. Eugene Toner, S.J., helped form the group and inspire its motives.

C.S.F.

Thanks to a liberal supply of midnight oil, this year's California Scholarship Federation continued growing in spite of the offerings of Milton Berle and Hopalong Cassidy. The first meeting of the year, conducted by moderator Fr. Bacigalupi, S.J., saw the election of new officers. They were: popular Bill Wood, President; proficient John Seidler, Vice-President; mighty Jack Brink, Secretary-Treasurer; and remarkable Dick Martter, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Its activity being hidden, truly this society seems to be asleep. Paradoxically, however, it is perhaps the most active of all the school organizations, for indeed it does do something. In order to belong to the C.S.F. an applicant must have gained during the previous semester a total of at least ten points. In a solid an "A" is worth three points and a "B" one; in a semi-solid an "A" gains $1\frac{1}{2}$ and a "B" $\frac{1}{2}$ point. Extracurricular activities also merit points for the applicant in a lesser degree.

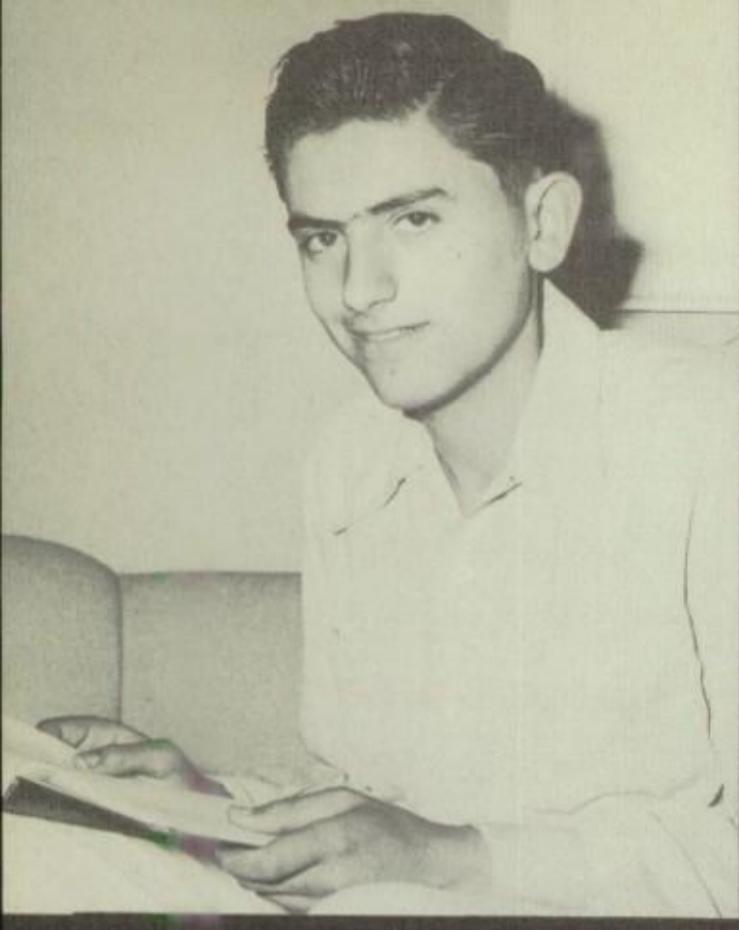

Each year the C.S.F. tries to obtain college scholarships for its life members (that is, those who have had the C.S.F. qualifications four out of their last six semesters). However a more immediate advantage of being a C.S.F. member is the ditching of two school days every year—legitimately.

Loyola Student Second in L. A. Competition

LeVaux Gives Credit to Parents, Teachers

"Hard studying and encouragement from my parents and teachers" are the reasons Howard LeVaux, Loyola High School student, yesterday gave for placing second high in the national History test.

Howard, 17-year-old senior, took eighth place in the Hearst Newspapers Eighth Annual American History Awards competition.

For this, he will receive a $100 Savings Bond added to the $150 he already had won in the local competition for finishing second.

It may be interesting to know that there were more than officially participating in the Sixth Army Zone, scoring 953 out of a possible 1000. This was better than the University of California team's 946 which took honors among the universities and colleges competing in the Sixth Army Zone.

In addition, the NATIONAL INDIVIDUAL CHAMPIONSHIP among High School Units was won by Howard J. Falk of your school.

Sincerely yours,
John R. Hearst

Howard J. Falk of Loyola High School, Los Angeles, took first honors among the individual marksmen in the high school division with a fine score of 197 out of a possible 200.

Loyola High School also had the high scoring team in the Sixth Army Zone, scoring 953 out of a possible 1000. This was better than the University of California team's 946 which took honors among the universities and colleges competing in the Sixth Army Zone.

TODAY'S

He is Richard Jonsen, 17, a senior at Loyola High School. Trained by Mr. D. Kolda, S. J., Richard scored heavily with his fine voice and presence and a dramatic oration that pleaded with Americans to find George Washington-type leadership and honor, to lead the nation out of its dreadful domestic and international confusion.

Young Jonsen lives at 1663 Wellington road. His aim is to attend Santa Clara University.

WHAT MAKES LOYOLA?

Practical Patriotism

1950-51, the year of preparation. Korea was placed on the map. The "H" bomb became part of America's vocabulary. Loyola too was preparing—for citizenship, and if necessary for armed defense of Truth and Justice.

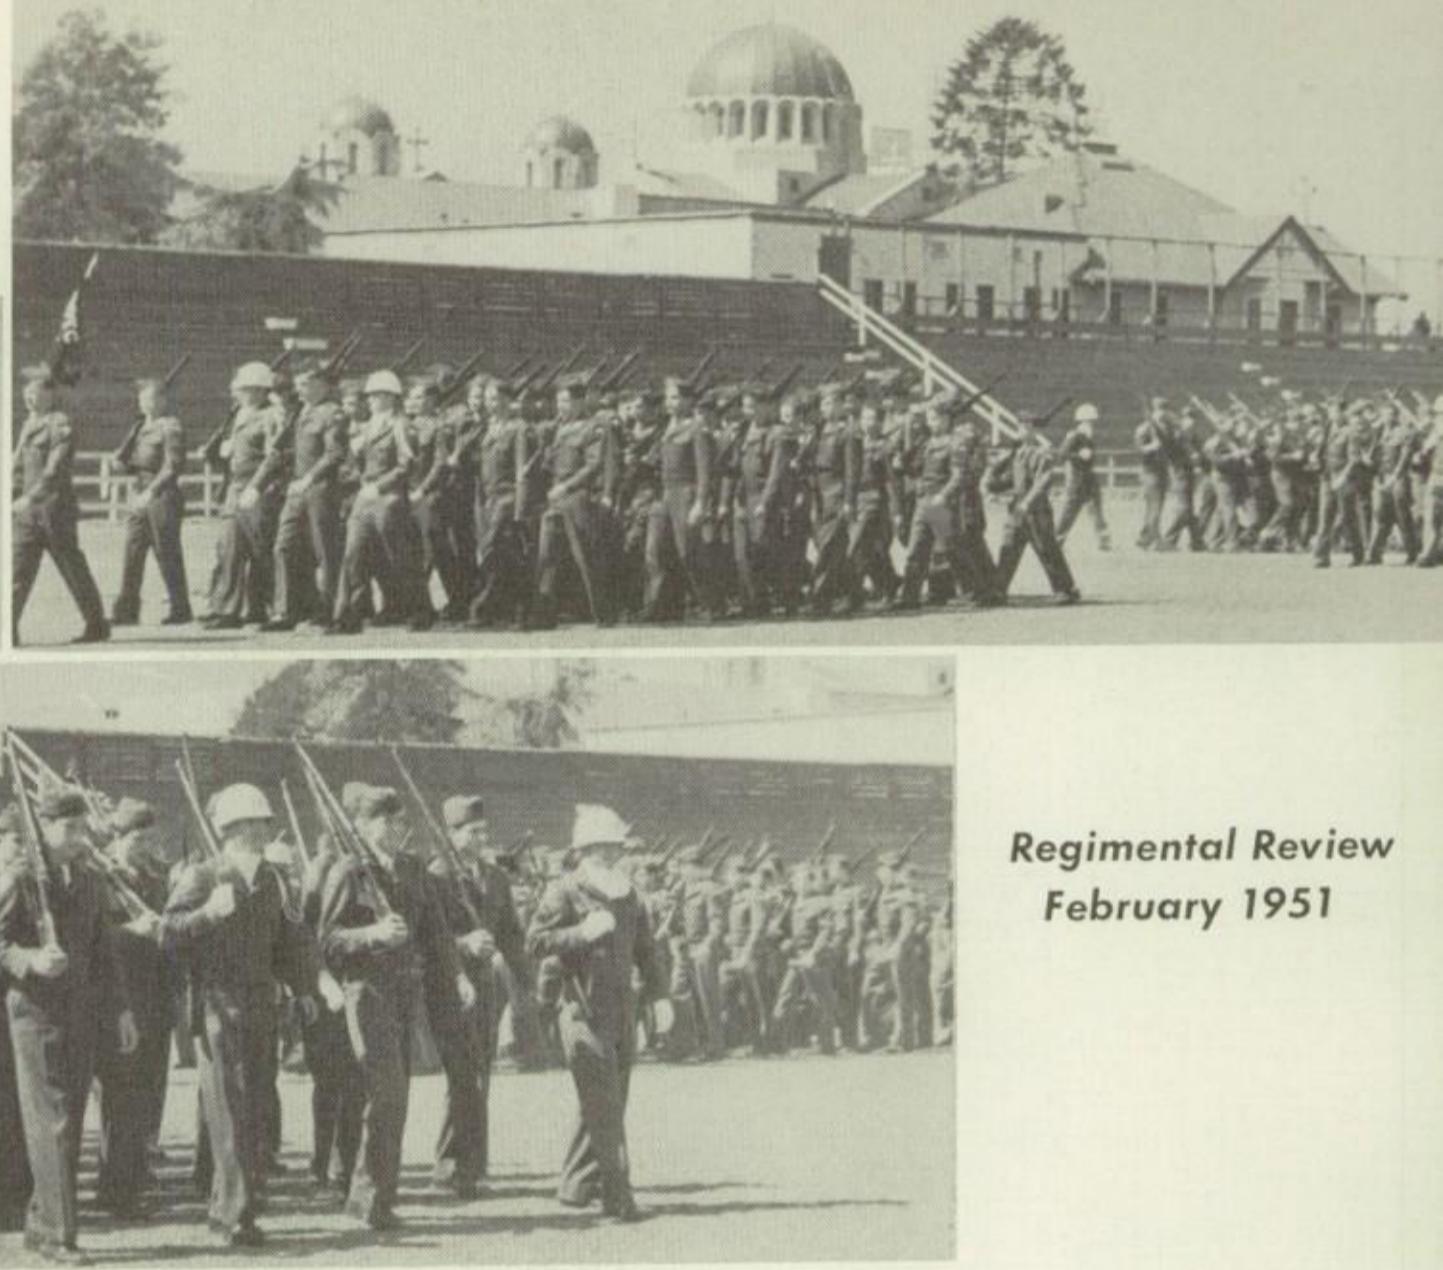

Captain Charles C. Walsh joined the faculty from foreign service in Trieste. The enrollment of six hundred and thirty five cadets was a record. Organized in three Battalions with three companies to a Battalion, discipline, appearance, and smartness was the responsibility of the student officers, who also instructed in Drill and Military Courtesy.

The course gave a comprehensive foundation in Infantry Weapons, Marksmanship, Map Reading, and Tactics. The first year students were introduced to First Aid and Interior Guard Duty. The Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers received additional training in Drill, Command, and Methods of Instruction. The Band added color to the ceremonies and kindled spirit at athletic games and rallies.

A monthly weekend "expedition" to Fort MacArthur was inaugurated—to the advantage and enjoyment of all.

Our students graduate into a troubled world, knowing that their training and experience in ROTC will be of benefit to them and their country.

LOYOLA HIGH

WHAT MAKES LOYOLA?

Student Initiative

As a paper match is useless without the book on which to strike it, so a school without student initiative accomplishes nothing.

The best teachers and the most modern facilities cannot of themselves make the student active and alert. Loyola boasts of activities and organizations initiated by the students, working for them, and carried on with their cooperation.

Among these organizations, the Monogram Club has been outstanding. Resurrected this year from an honorary athletic society it is now composed of the top varsity athletes. The Monogram Club ushers at the various games and maintains organized pandemonium at the rallies.

To the Cheerleaders goes the thanks and appreciation of both the teams and the student body, for these enthusiastic men were an integral link between the Cubs on the Field and the Cubs in the stands. To the Cheerleaders goes no little credit for Loyola's Championships.

Always behind the activities of the students were their elected representatives, the student body officers, efficient in distributing tickets, supporting the Fiesta, and managing dances. Wherever the activities of the school functioned smoothly, much of the credit was due to the student officers.

The colorful, eye-catching, result-getting posters and signs which are a trademark at Loyola originated in the Pep Club. The artists who compose this club faithfully focused the attention of the students on all those activities which student initiative originated and carried through.

Cub halfback Louie Stueck and Notre Dame's Dick Runyan reach for the sky as Loyola tramples the Knights 37-14.

Scotty Husted drops Notre Dame's Jack Brannigan as Rich Malloy comes up to pick him off.

Bill Porter gets a "player's-eye view" of Frank Layana's first T.D. of the evening as Carmel's Harry Prukof comes up a second too late, thus making three for Frank that evening.

Greg Sheridan completes the rout of Candy Soldiers as he picks up a first and 10 on the Crusader 47.

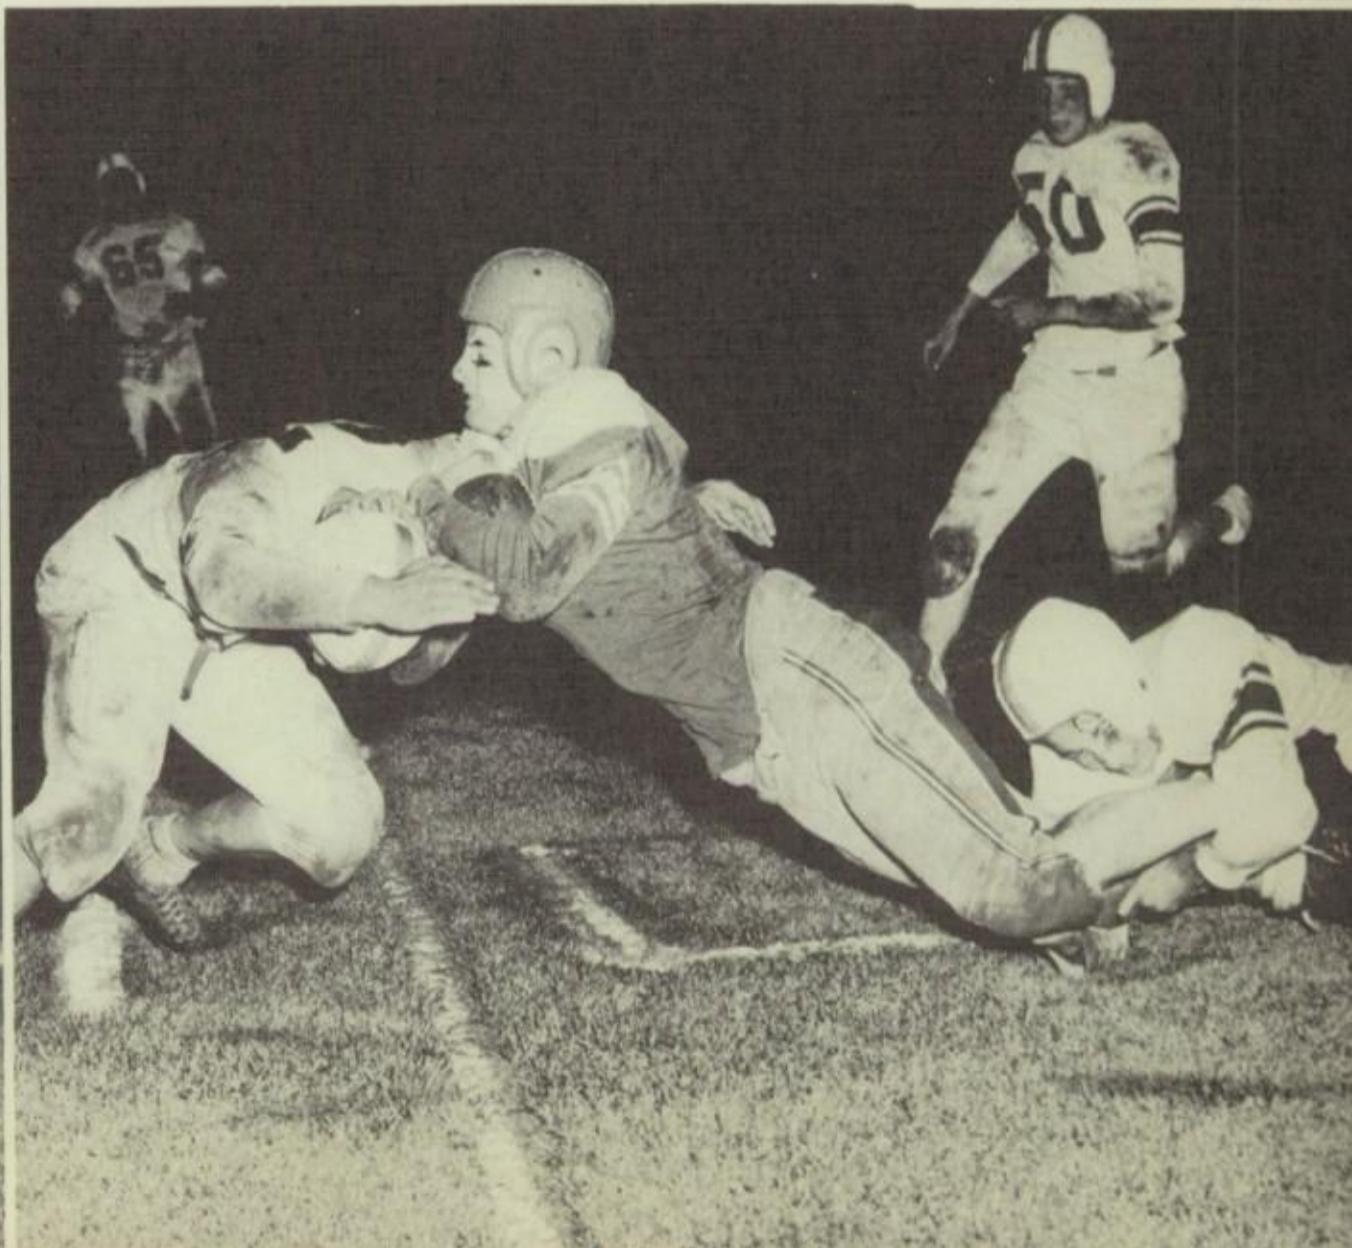

Mike Phelan and "Emo" St. Geme following Hugh Maguire's crushing tackle of Cathedral's Benny Linale.

"Gallopin' Greg" turns the corner and picks up speed to outrun the "Spook" secondaries.

Future All C.I.F. Fullback Frank Layana rambles against the Phantoms as Loyola falls 13-18.

Jim St. Geme and Eddie Neuroth double up to stop Cathedral's Hal Mestyanek.

Ronnie Prevost squeezes through a Cathedral trap as Frank Layana throws a block from the ground.

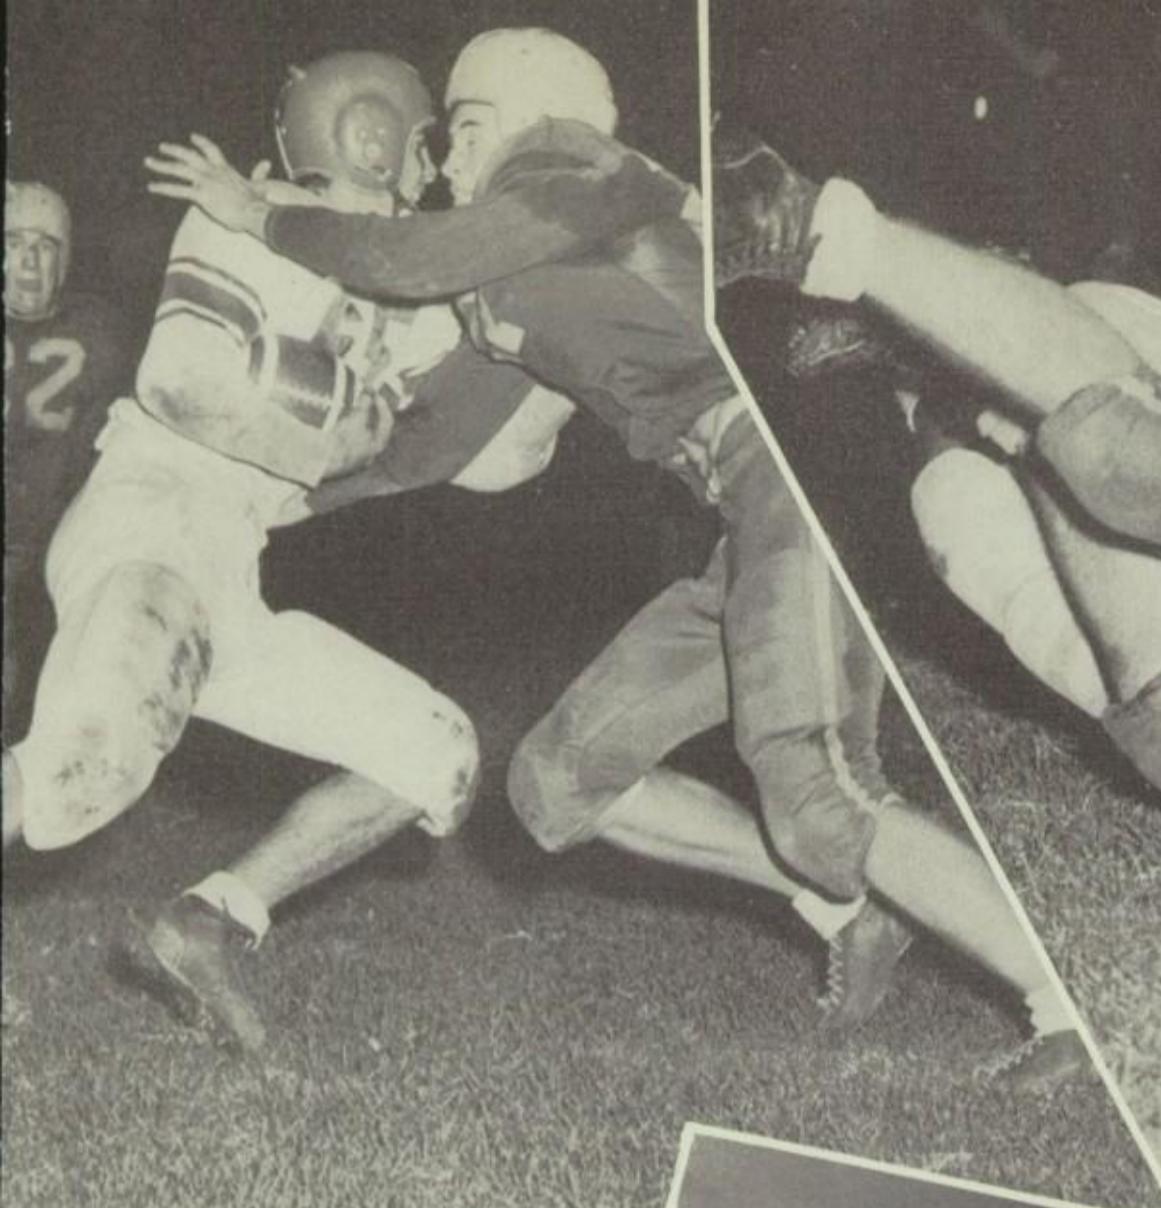

Frank Layana goes for more yardage against the Phantoms from North Broadway.

Jack Brink goes over for six as Loyola romps over the Mariners.

Joe Lawlor, Bob McCarthy, Jim St.Geme, Sal Torres, and Mike Serrato give a perfect example of gang-tackling as they smear Saint Monica's Lewis for a big loss.

Layana tries to "muscle through" Steve Haug in the early moments of the Cantwell game.

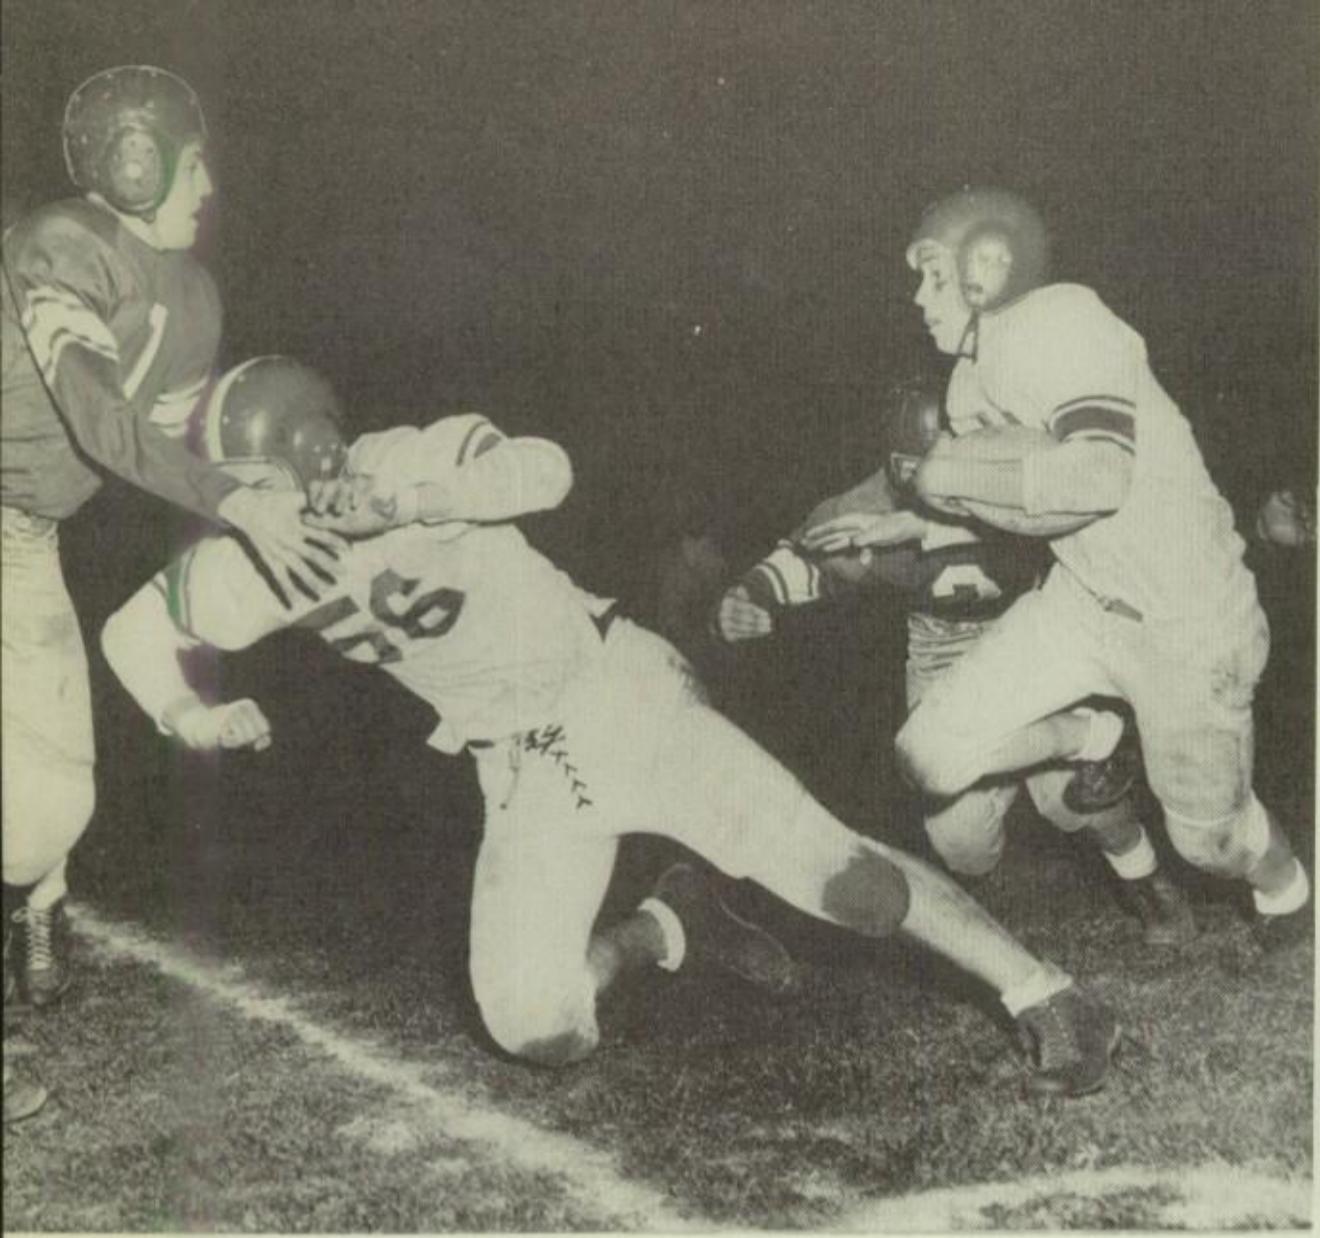

Greg Sheridan goes over for two yards and six points as Loyola's fighting line opens up the highly touted Cantwell forward wall.

Dick Malloy lays out Cardinal Tom Craig soon after Loyola's first T.D. of the evening.

Catholic League Champs!

In the final game of the season against the Fullerton Indians, Ronnie Prevost, assisted by Dick Strasser, picks up 6 yards.

Led by Mike Phelan, all C.I.F. fullback, Frank Layana crashes the Santa Monica line. The Cubs upset the favored Vikings 21-13.

The Cub's injured line holds as Fred Nahra's conversion gives the Loyolans a 7-0 lead. Finally, however, the Cubs, broken by injuries, bowed 41-13.

Frank Layana is brought down by Samohi halfback Frank Gasser, as John Flynn and Viking A. Williams rush to help their respective teammates.

During the game... Team play, not weight, won our games... Team play at its best, blocking for Nahra's conversion.

Highlights of the SEASON

The 1950 Cub football team may justly be called one of Loyola's greatest. Unlike other championship teams of the past, they lacked size, depth, and experience. They started the season with nothing but team spirit and careful organization. Slowly they developed into an aggregation that not only stormed through the Catholic League; but to the surprise of all onlookers, fought their way to the C.I.F. semi-finals.

Outweighed in every game by 15 to 30 pounds per man, our gridders fought opponents to a standstill. They compensated for what they lacked in size by true spirit of competition, and by their magnificent teamwork.

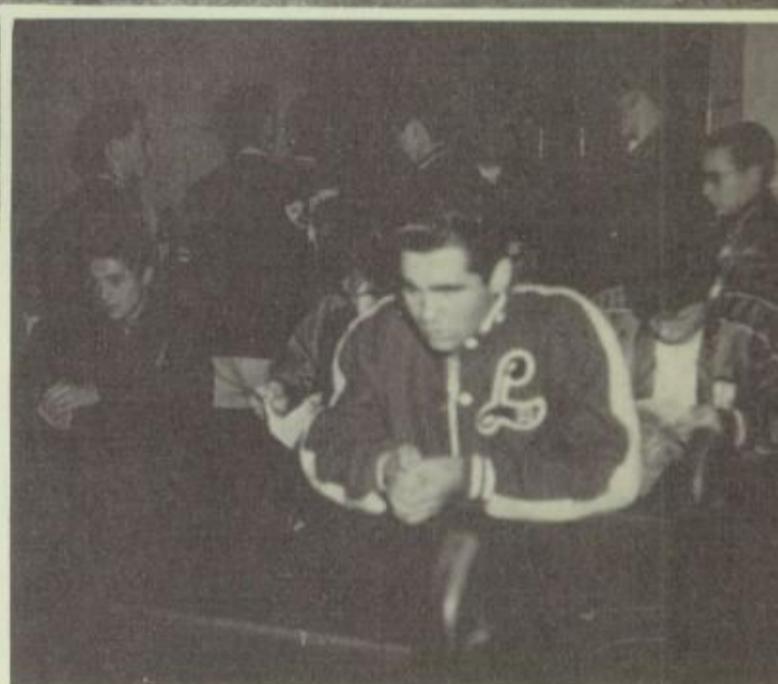

The season started in an unusual manner, when the Ingelwood Sentinels slipped by a green and inexperienced Cub eleven 13-7. In the league opener, the "Bouchard Boys" initiated the Notre Dame Knights into the Catholic League, 37-14. Mount Carmel then fell into the victory wave, 39-6. Rancho La Cienega Playground was the site of our first and last league defeat. The Cathedral Phantoms upset the Cubs 18-13. St. Augustine's and St. Monica's were then easily shoved aside by the title-bound Loyolans.

St. Anthony's, Cantwell, and Loyola were now tied for first place, and our gridders were to play both the Saints and the Cardinals on their home fields in the last two games of the league. The Cubs astonished everyone by dropping St. Anthony's 25-0 and then by snatching the championship from Cantwell, 14-7 at Montebello.

They squeezed by the Santa Barbara Dons 21-20 in the first round of the C.I.F. at Santa Barbara. The following weekend, in one of their finest games of the season, they upset the favored Santa Monica Vikings 21-13 at Corsair Stadium in Santa Monica. Injuries and a two week rest for their opponents proved too much for the Cubs, and they bowed to the Fullerton Indians in the C.I.F. semi-finals, 41-13.

This brought to a close a most successful season. Loyola, students and faculty, may well be proud of the coaches, players, and managers who made the team of 1950 one of the greatest to go down in the annals of the school.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Winner of the Catholic League, third place in the Southwest Catholic Basketball Tourney, second place in the Beverly Hills Tourney, Semi-finals in the Compton Tournament, and first round of the C.I.F. play-offs.

These were the highlights of the Cub Varsity Basketball crew. Of 36 games they won 31. Again coach Bill Barnett placed his team among the top quintets of the Southland. This has now become a Barnett habit; the Cubs took the Catholic League again this time, with a neat eleven-one record.

The spectacular play of the blue and white was a center of attention wherever they went. Public recognition went to Al Ebright, all-tournament Compton, Jack Dunne, Fernando Neri, and Al Luer. Fernando Neri was Player of Tournament at Beverly Hills; Tom Fish and Jack Dunne made second string. Fernando Neri and Jack Dunne placed first and second string in the Carmel Tourney and in the all-C.I.F.

The weary schedule which sometimes found us playing four games in one week, and on one occasion five games in two days, was a tremendous strain on the "Barnettmen."

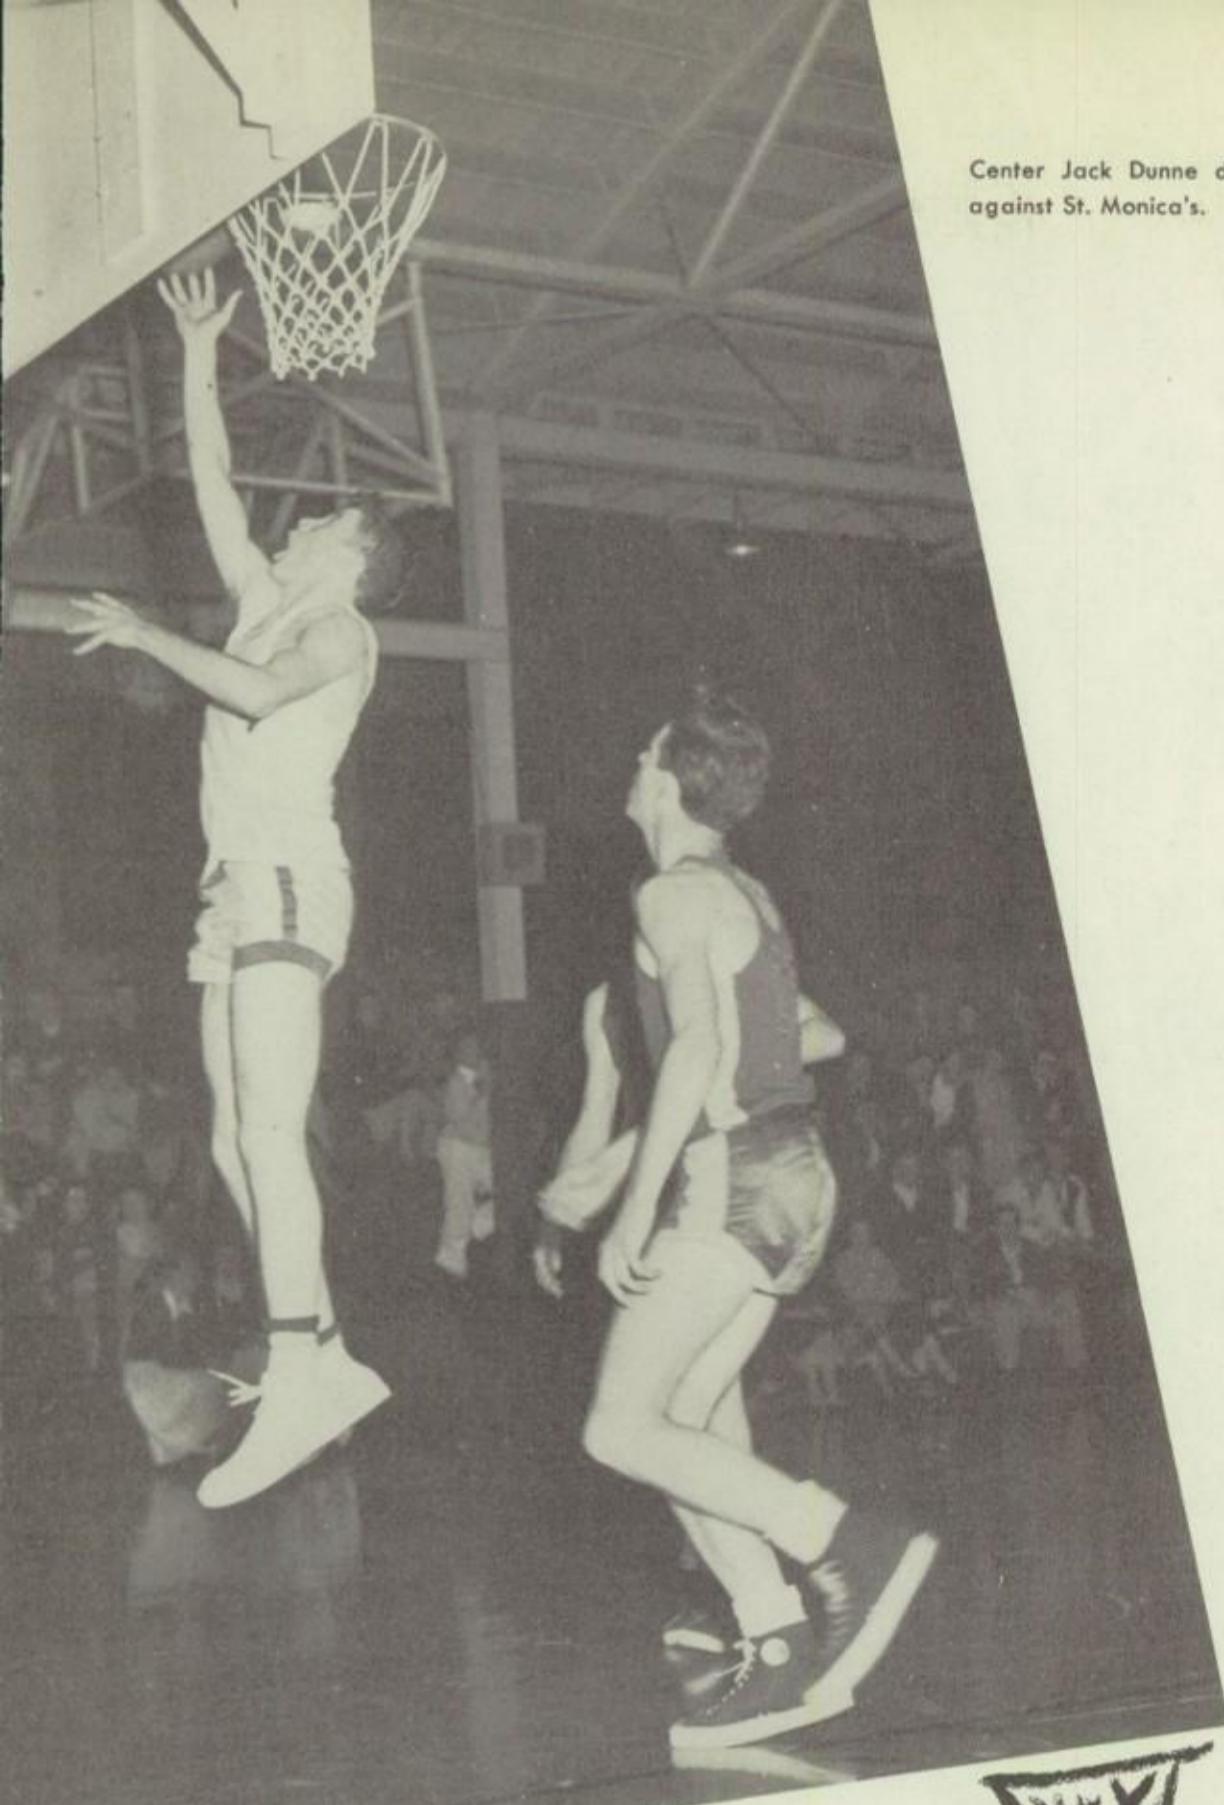

Still they came through winning when the chips were down, showing the true Loyolan competitive spirit. This year's squad will not soon be forgotten by Loyola men.

B BASKETBALL

The 1950-51 Bee Basketball team survived the long only-3-home-game-schedule with 21 games won and 13 lost. After a slow start, the Cublettes hit their stride during the Catholic League in which they placed third.

Frosh forwards Bill Wallace and Bob "Whitey" Kerslake along with center Pat Bushman provided a scoring push that hit for nearly 30 points per game. At guards, co-captain Jerry Culligan and Phil Contreras held the team together with their able rebounding and defense. All these players were honored on the All Catholic "Bee" teams. The top flight reserve duo of Pat Kanne and Harold Meziere was of tremendous value during the long season.

Look for these boys on the Varsity Score book during the next few years.

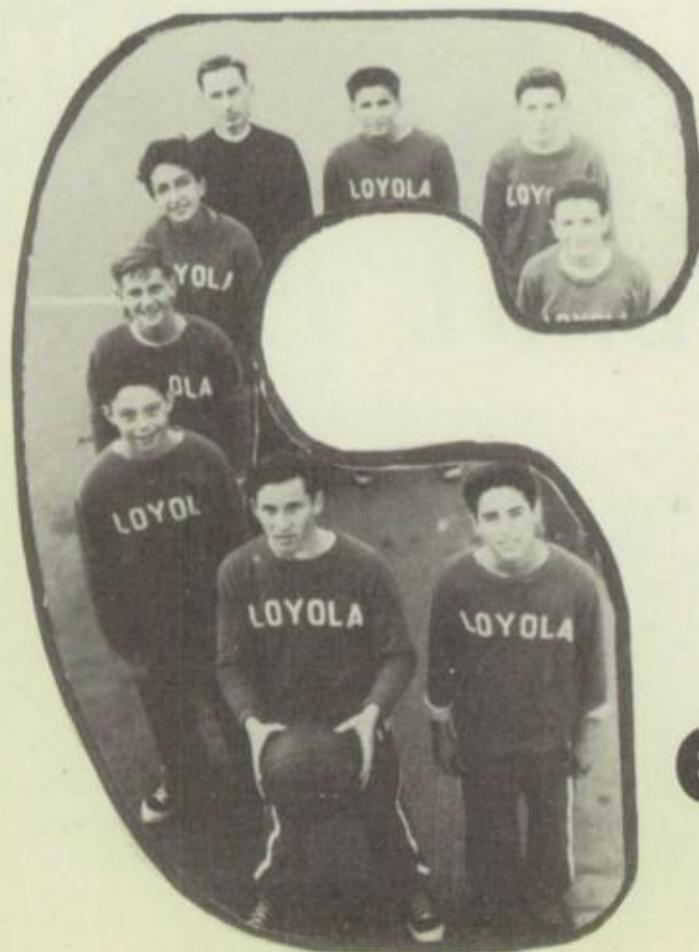

Coaches also appreciate a winning score book!

TOP: Layana sizes up the home-run he has hit and hopefully begins the circuit. BOTTOM: The Cardinal catcher, flustered by Ferrante's race for home, muffs the ball.

When Fr. Gaffney called the baseball team for spring practice, he had ten returning lettermen plus a good number of promising ballplayers up from the B squad. Captained by Nick Ferrante, the team got off to a rather shaky start due to unpredictable weather and a few tough breaks.

In the outfield for the Cubs, Ferrante, Fish, Layana and Maggio are all hitting well over the 300 mark with Ferrante leading in extra base hits, RBI's and stolen bases. Leading the infielders is Joe Maguire ably backed up at short by Kane. Dick and M. Goodman make playing third base look easy while at second base Forthman and Zafarano look like veterans.

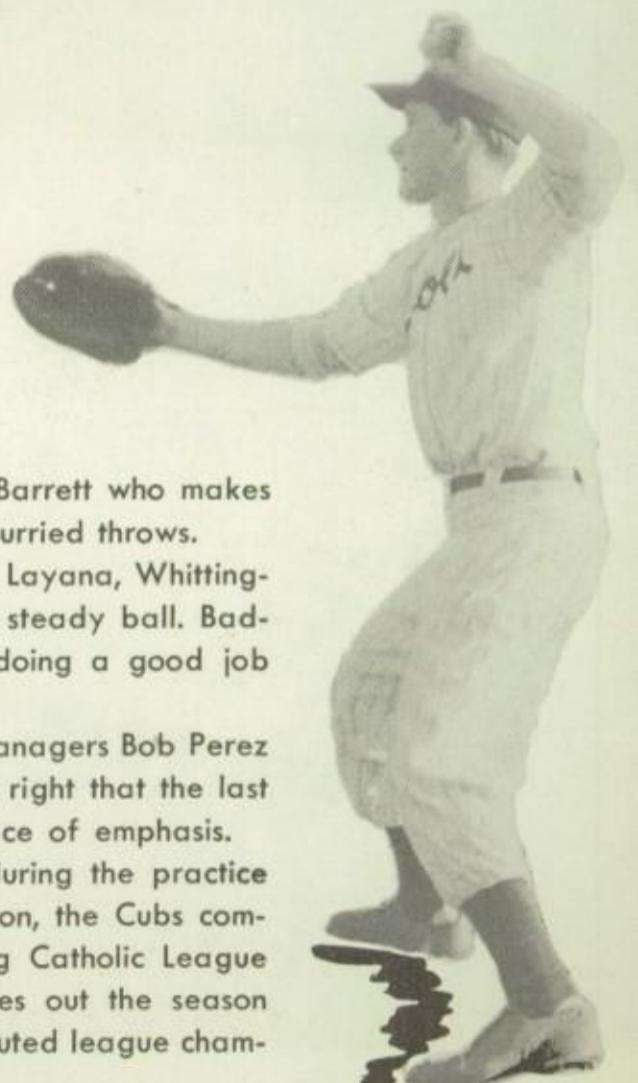

At first is old reliable Jim Barrett who makes the infielders look good even on hurried throws.

On the mound Shulte, Von Aspe, Layana, Whittington and Reed have been pitching steady ball. Badovinac, Hefner and Lenihan are doing a good job behind the plate.

Finally come the names of the managers Bob Perez and Pat Ryan. And here it is only right that the last place in an article is also the place of emphasis.

Recovering from a slow start during the practice season against first rate competition, the Cubs compiled a 6-2 record against strong Catholic League opposition. If the ball club finishes out the season without defeat, they will be undisputed league champions.

This year's varsity will be losing only five players at graduation. From this hopeful fact you may make your own predictions for the future.

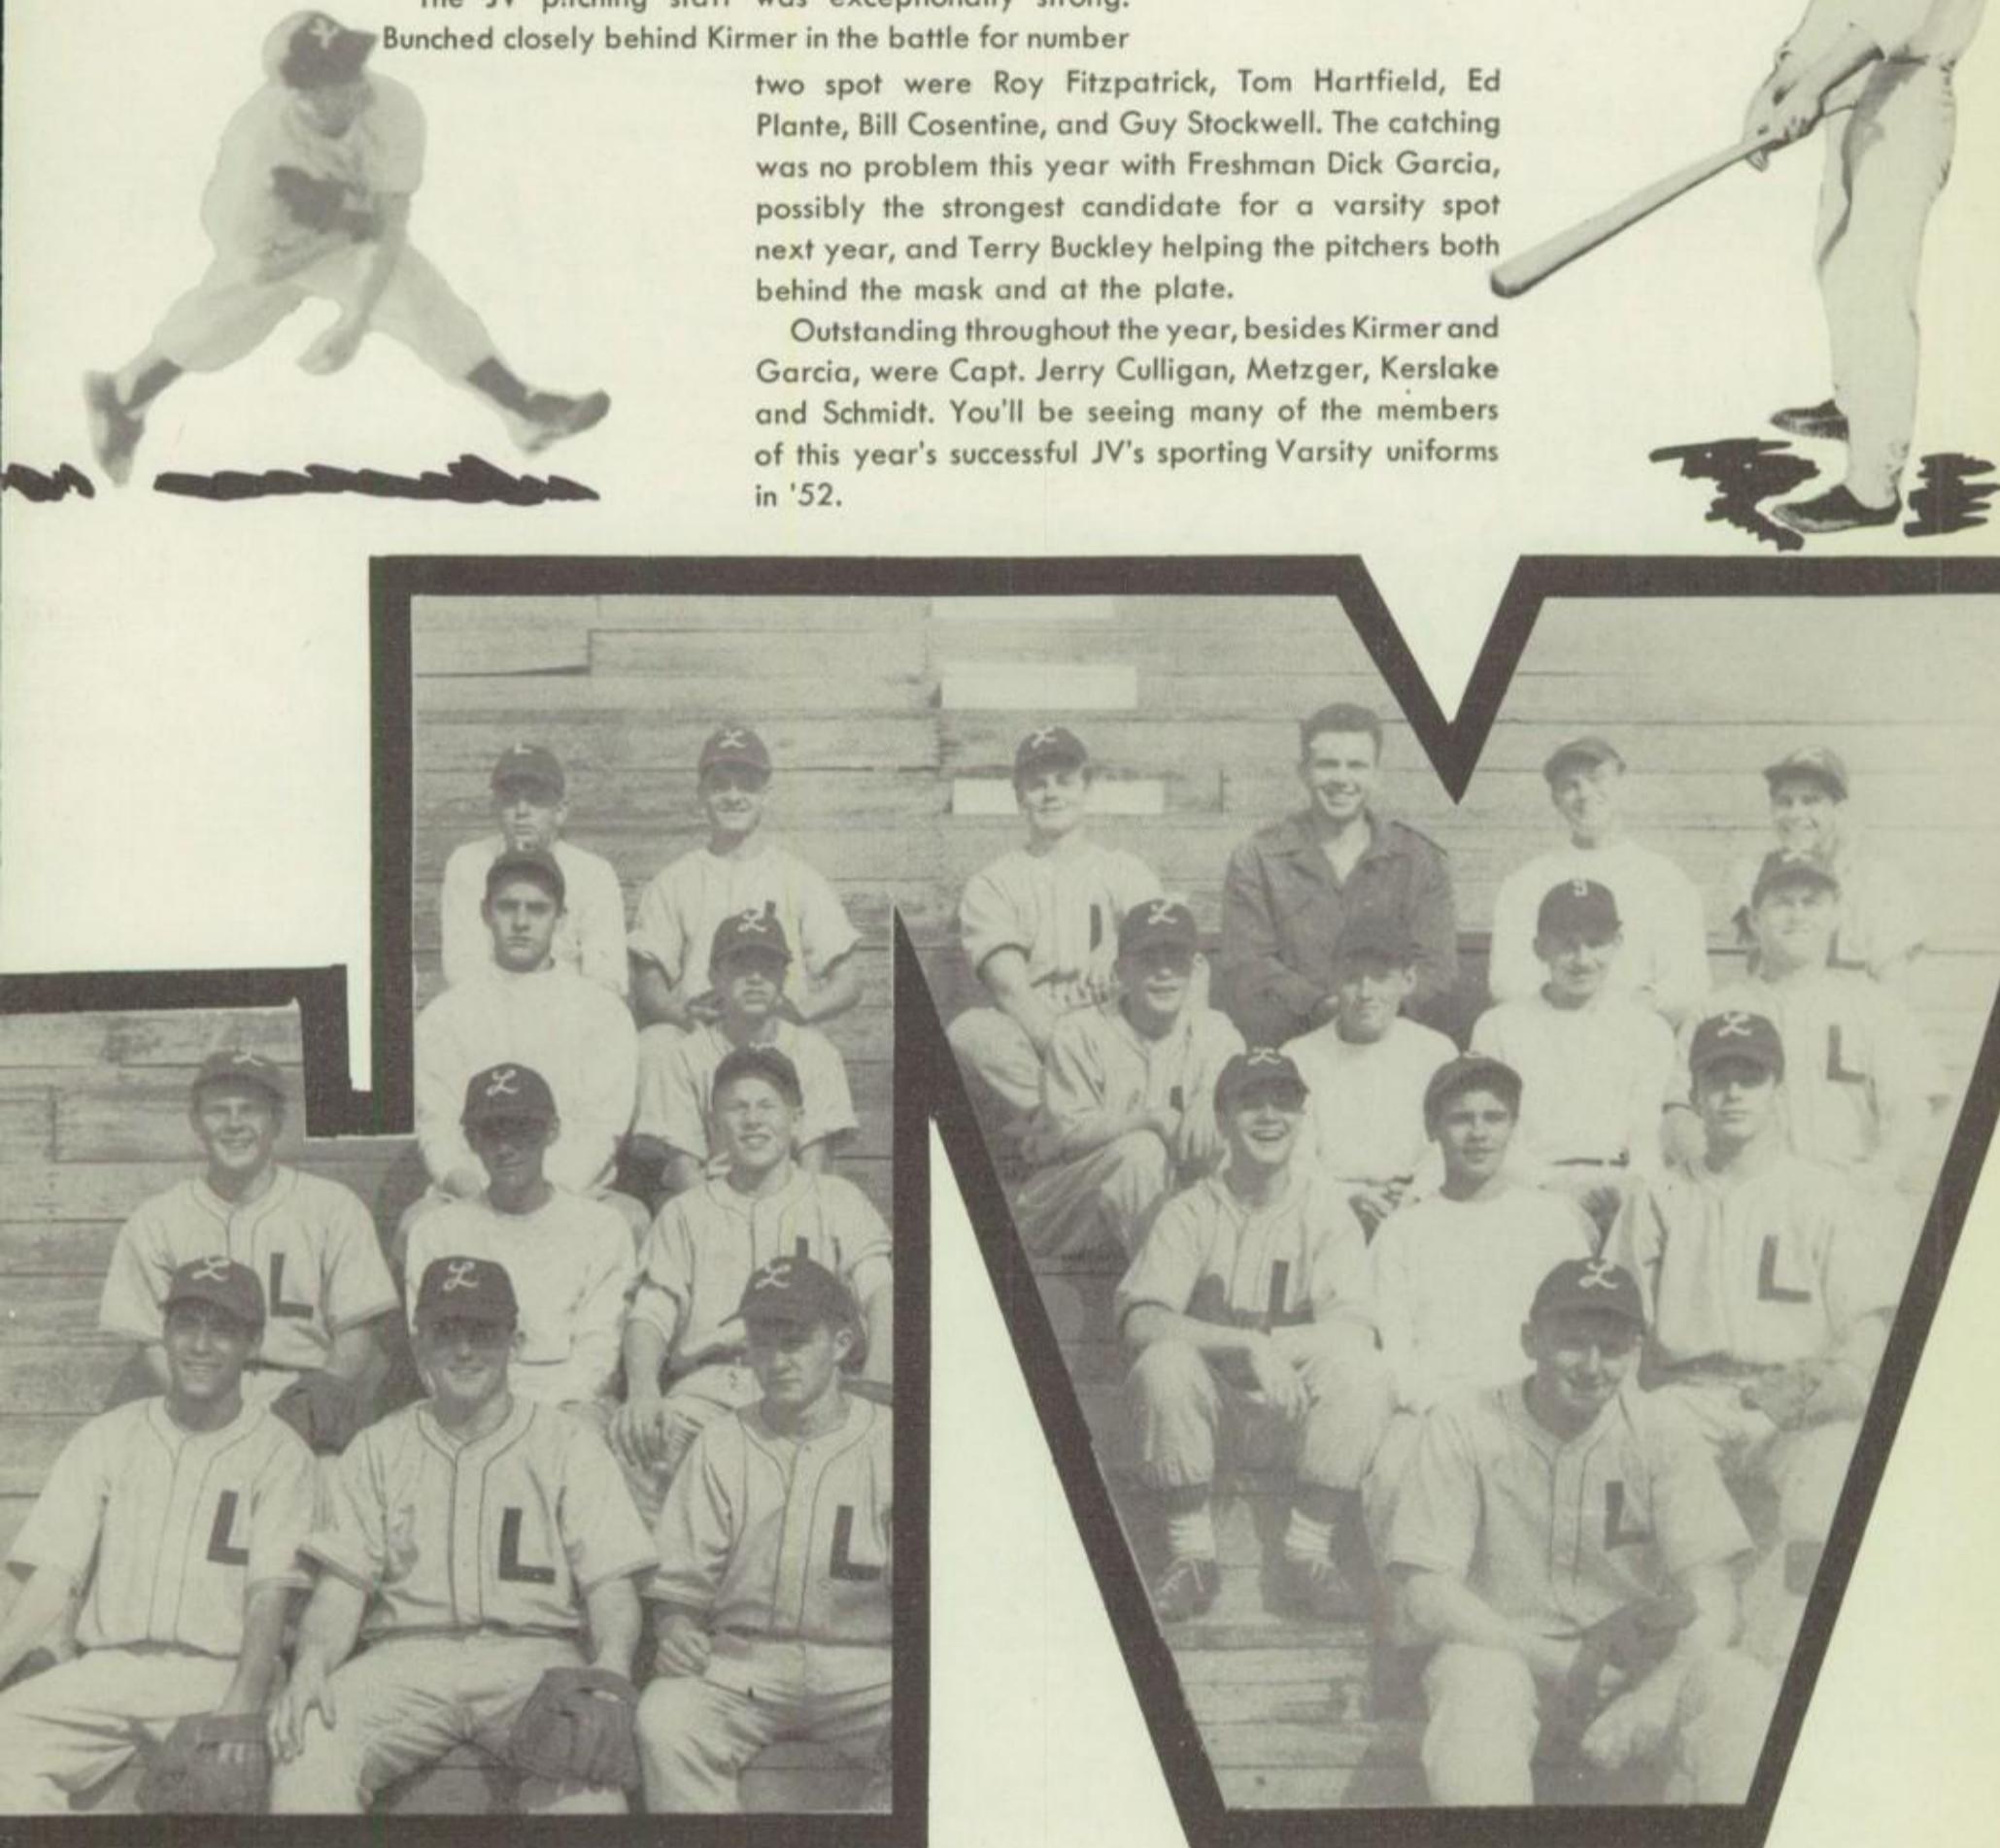

Under the competent leadership of a new coach, Mr. Dempsey, S.J., the JV's have enjoyed a fruitful season. As we go to press, they have lost only one game in league play; this was to Notre Dame.

A new star was found in the person of Mike Kirmer, erstwhile first baseman turned pitcher. In his start against Mt. Carmel, he allowed but one hit while fanning fourteen Crusaders. In the field, budding stars showed up in "Whitey" Kerslake at second base, and in Joe Metzger, center fielder.

The JV pitching staff was exceptionally strong. Bunched closely behind Kirmer in the battle for number two spot were Roy Fitzpatrick, Tom Hartfield, Ed Plante, Bill Cosentine, and Guy Stockwell. The catching was no problem this year with Freshman Dick Garcia, possibly the strongest candidate for a varsity spot next year, and Terry Buckley helping the pitchers both behind the mask and at the plate.

Outstanding throughout the year, besides Kirmer and Garcia, were Capt. Jerry Culligan, Metzger, Kerslake and Schmidt. You'll be seeing many of the members of this year's successful JV's sporting Varsity uniforms in '52.

John Flynn receives the Shea Memorial trophy from tennis coach Fr. Domochowski.

Sunday is a day of rest, but not for the tennis team. Perhaps that is why they are so confident of another Catholic League Victory. Although fielding an inexperienced team, Fr. Domochowski soon put his charges in championship form.

John Flynn, who has been a letterman for three years, again paced the team. At second singles, Pete Shea, though only a sophomore, showed that he was a factor to reckon with. Don Brennan, who along with Flynn was the only undefeated man on the team, held up third singles. Behind them were Don Eitner and Dick Corallo. At first doubles were Jack Pike and Bob Parish, and at second were Steve Carpenter and Larry Fagan.

As we go to press the team is still undefeated. Venice, Mt. Carmel, Cathedral, and Dorsey all have acknowledged defeat at the hands of our team.

VARSITY SWIMMING

Gold is tested in the fire; adversity proves the worth of man. While the swimming teams of other schools jogged lazily across their campuses to the pools, our swimmers were forced to drive across town, two or three miles to the Elks' Club, where they practiced in a rented pool for an hour and a half three days a week.

Recognizing these difficulties, Coach Bill Quinlan should be well pleased with the results of this year's effort. The highlight of the season came when our mighty mermen twice drubbed Leuzinger—38-37 and 45-30.

Now as we go to press, the league not yet started, we foresee nothing but greatness in next year's team. It will suffer from the loss of versatile captain Joe Drey, Bill Browne, Tom Shroll, Fred Von der Ahe, and diver Ronnie Knoll; nevertheless it will have the experience and talent of at least nine returning lettermen.

Perhaps the water will be wet next year also.

After a rather poor start the Varsity Track team picked up enough power to roll over five of its six league opponents and capture second place in the Catholic League pennant chase. In the practice meets the Cubs showed little of the class which was to be theirs later in the season; they dropped decisions to two non-leaguers at Burbank and Inglewood.

Loyola continued its poor performances in the Catholic League opener by losing to the League Champions, Cathedral. Then the Cubs snapped out of their lethargy and powered through the remainder of the season undefeated, romping over Cantwell, Mount Carmel, Notre Dame, Saint Anthony's, and Saint Monica's in that order.

As this yearbook goes to press the spikesters are preparing for the all-Catholic Track and Field Carnival. They are co-favorites with Cathedral.

1. Perfect timing as Angus McEachen and Mickey Gibbons top the first hurdle.
2. Ronnie Knoll boosts himself 10'3" to beat Carmel.
3. Greg Sheridan clocks 10:2 against Cantwell, Eddie Neuroth supporting.
4. Dick Malloy casts off at ten feet.
5. Ronny Gowey anchors the Cub relay quartet to an easy victory.

7. Miler Pat Sullivan sets the pace for Vince Thorpe and Vernon Kulla.

WHAT MAKES LOYOLA?

Optimistic Undergraduates

During the course of the year, especially as spring sounds its first trumpets reminding us that graduation is not far off, with its store-pressed suits, eloquent speeches, and fond farewells, our thoughts are concentrated on the seniors—and their deeds, misdeeds, accomplishments, and failures.

We often fail to realize, therefore, that the underclassmen are really the backbone of the school. The graduates are the result of four years of schooling. The underclasses, however, manifest the actual life of the school.

Loyola's success in developing her undergraduates is seen in their achievements throughout the year.

A Junior led the rifle team in its champion year. In sports, Juniors were the bulwark of every team.

Sophomores placed more "Ciceros" on the floor of oratory in the N.F.L. competition than any other year. And on the ever-hot tennis courts they racketed their way to honors.

The Freshmen are still winning their spurs. Read their exploits in the El Camino of '52 and '53.

With hopeful expectations, therefore, and gradually maturing minds, bodies, and spirits, the Loyola undergraduates look optimistically to the future. For very shortly the numerous hours spent beating their brains over the Great War, factoring, and Homer—the trials and joys of all their curricular and extracurricular efforts—will begin to pay off with graduation, the first step on the road to manhood.

JUNIOR CLASS PRESIDENTS

*Paul Schulte, Frank Layana, Vernon Kulla, Jim St. Geme,

CLASS OF '52

There is only one word by which a Junior can describe his third year, "Outstanding." We were outstanding in both the intellectual and the athletic.

Spiritually, we kept pace with the rest of the school. Our sodality, with its drives, socials and discussions, has already received its pages in this book.

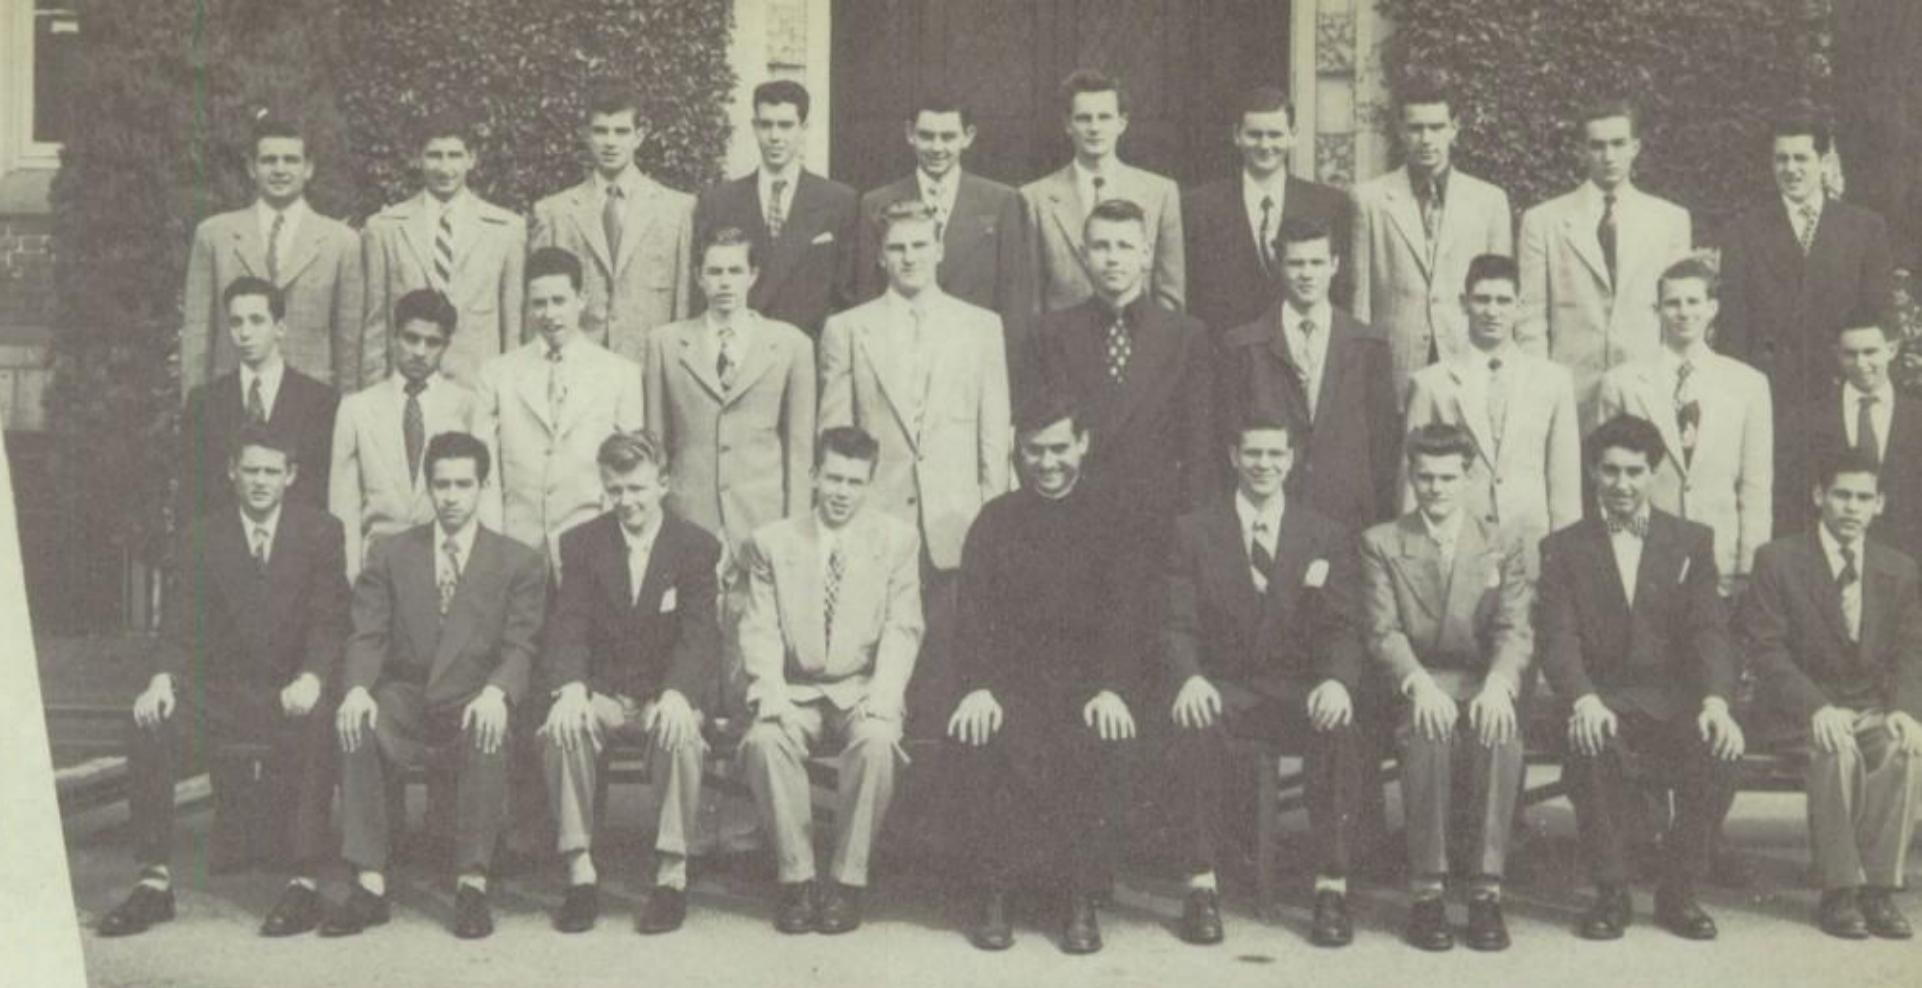

Intellectually the Juniors led the field with Vernon Kulla, Rudy Borchard Leo Boyd, and Bill Herkenhoff maintaining close to a 98% average. Tony Murray won the annual Hearst Essay Contest. Renny O'Donnell and Phil Battaglia represented the Juniors in the Gold Medal Debate.

On the social side, the Terrace Room of the Beverly-Wilshire Hotel echoed to the music of the Junior Prom. Thanks to the combined efforts of Tom Fish and Phil Battaglia the Prom will be remembered as the most successful dance of the year, bar none!

Athletic skill abounded: Fish, Neri, and Dunn starred in Basketball. Layana, Cobb, Gullick and Malloy bolstered the Football team; while Shulte, Dick, Gibbons, and Schmidt excelled in Baseball and Track.

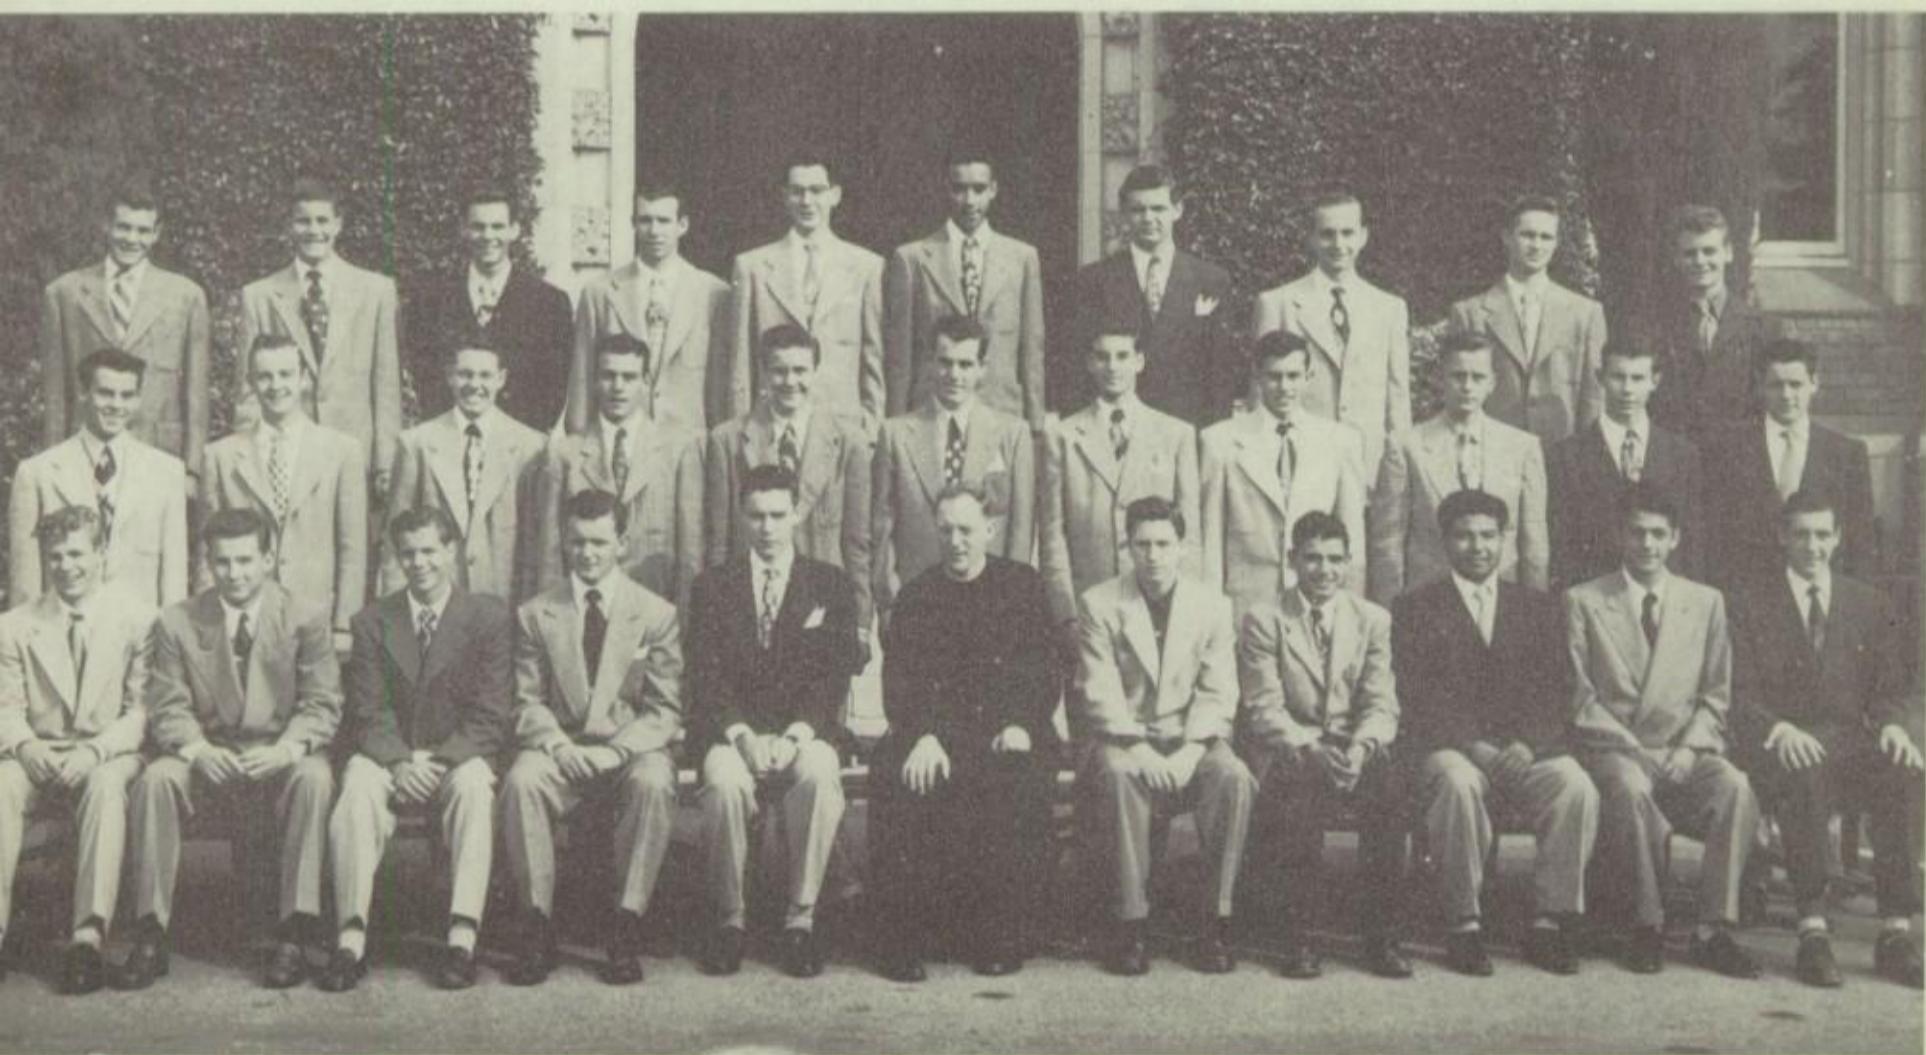

May the class of '52 enter Senior year to break all previous records, both athletic and intellectual.

Bob Courtney, John Koval, Stephen Boadt, Bob Wood,
Phil Contreras, Al Forthmann

CLASS OF '53

As the school year of 1951 draws to a close, the class of '53 takes their place among the men of Loyola. The Sophomores did not accomplish more than any other year, for in every class there is success, failure, trial and triumph. But truthfully the Sophomores have presented vital personalities to hold up Loyola's proud standard.

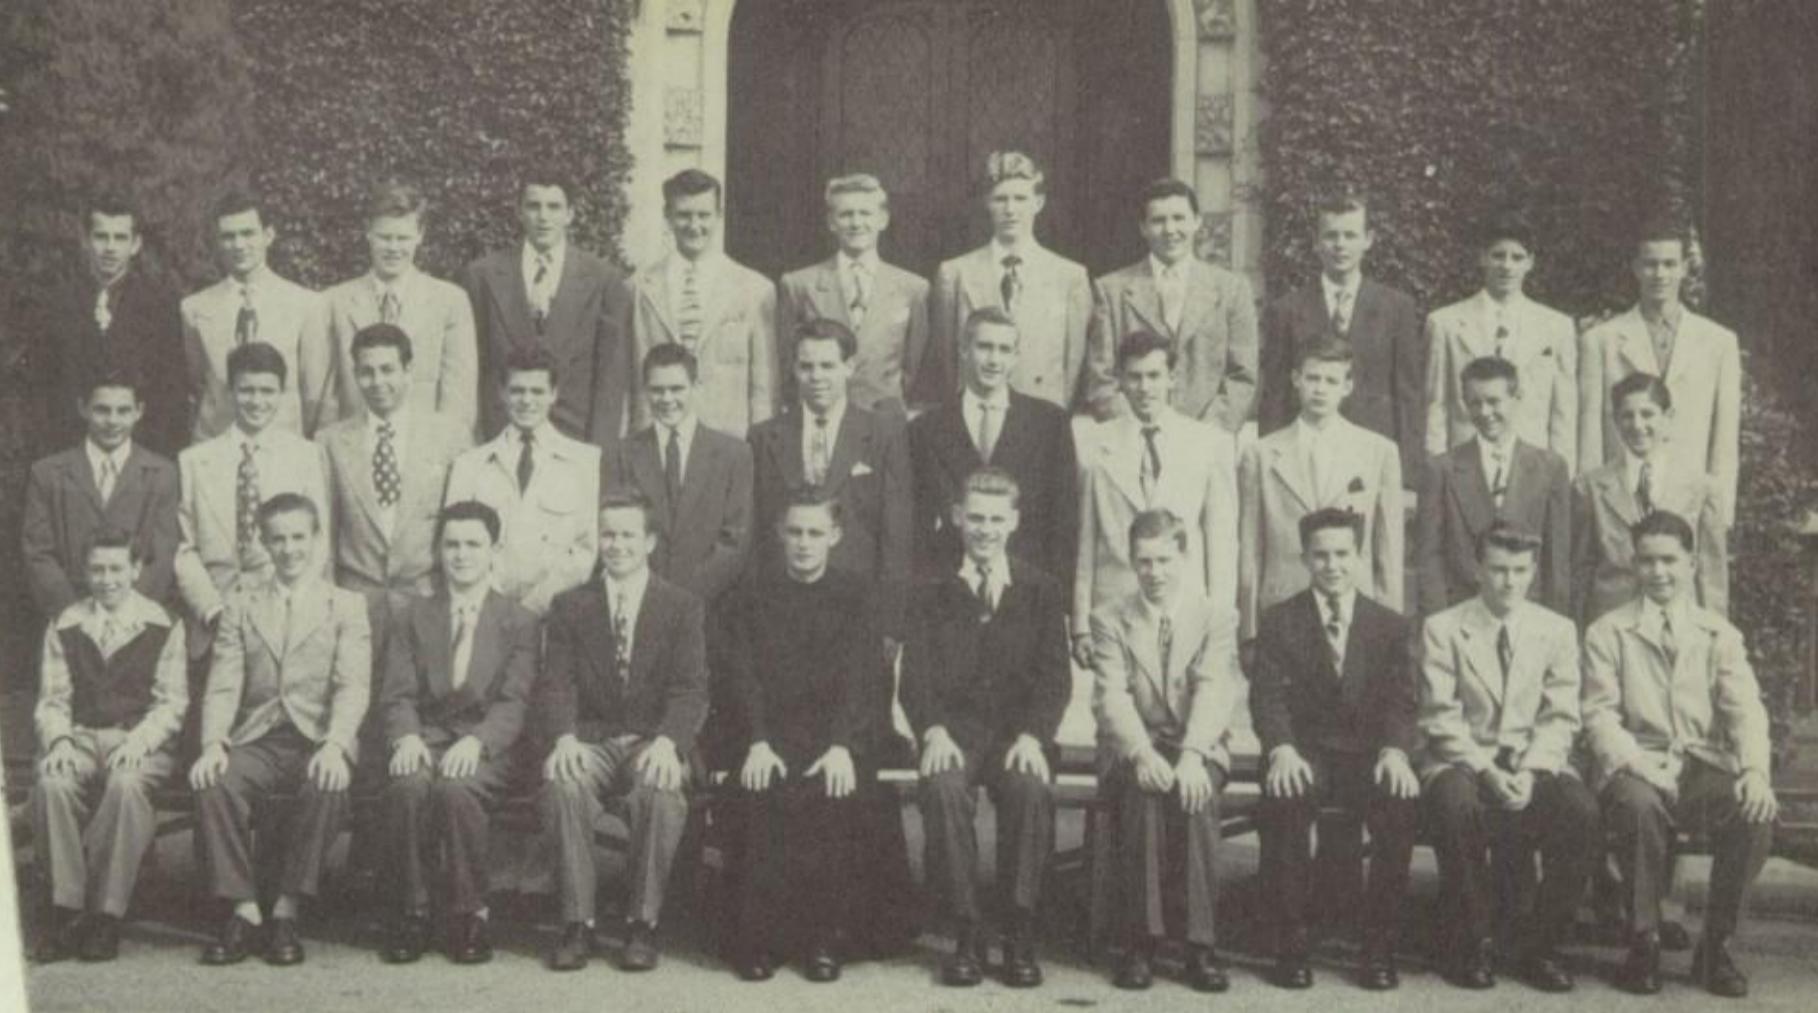

To mention a few names: Dick Dolan still maintained a remarkable 97% average; Dan Toomey's booming eloquence on Our Lady's Assumption won for him the Sophomore Elocution Contest; and John Bubien, under the direction of Father Crowley, S.J., led the Sodality through another fine year.

In sports, future stars were uncovered. In football, Louie Stueck, Phil Nolan, and Mike Kirmer turned in top performances. Dick Corallo and Pete Shea earned their varsity letters in tennis, while Al Forthman sparked at second base for Father Gaffney's baseball nine. In John Koval there is undoubtedly a future basketball star; while Pat Bushman copped "All Catholic" award for the Bees. In the high jump, Terry Sullivan, also a promising basketballer, cleared 5'6" for a well-earned letter.

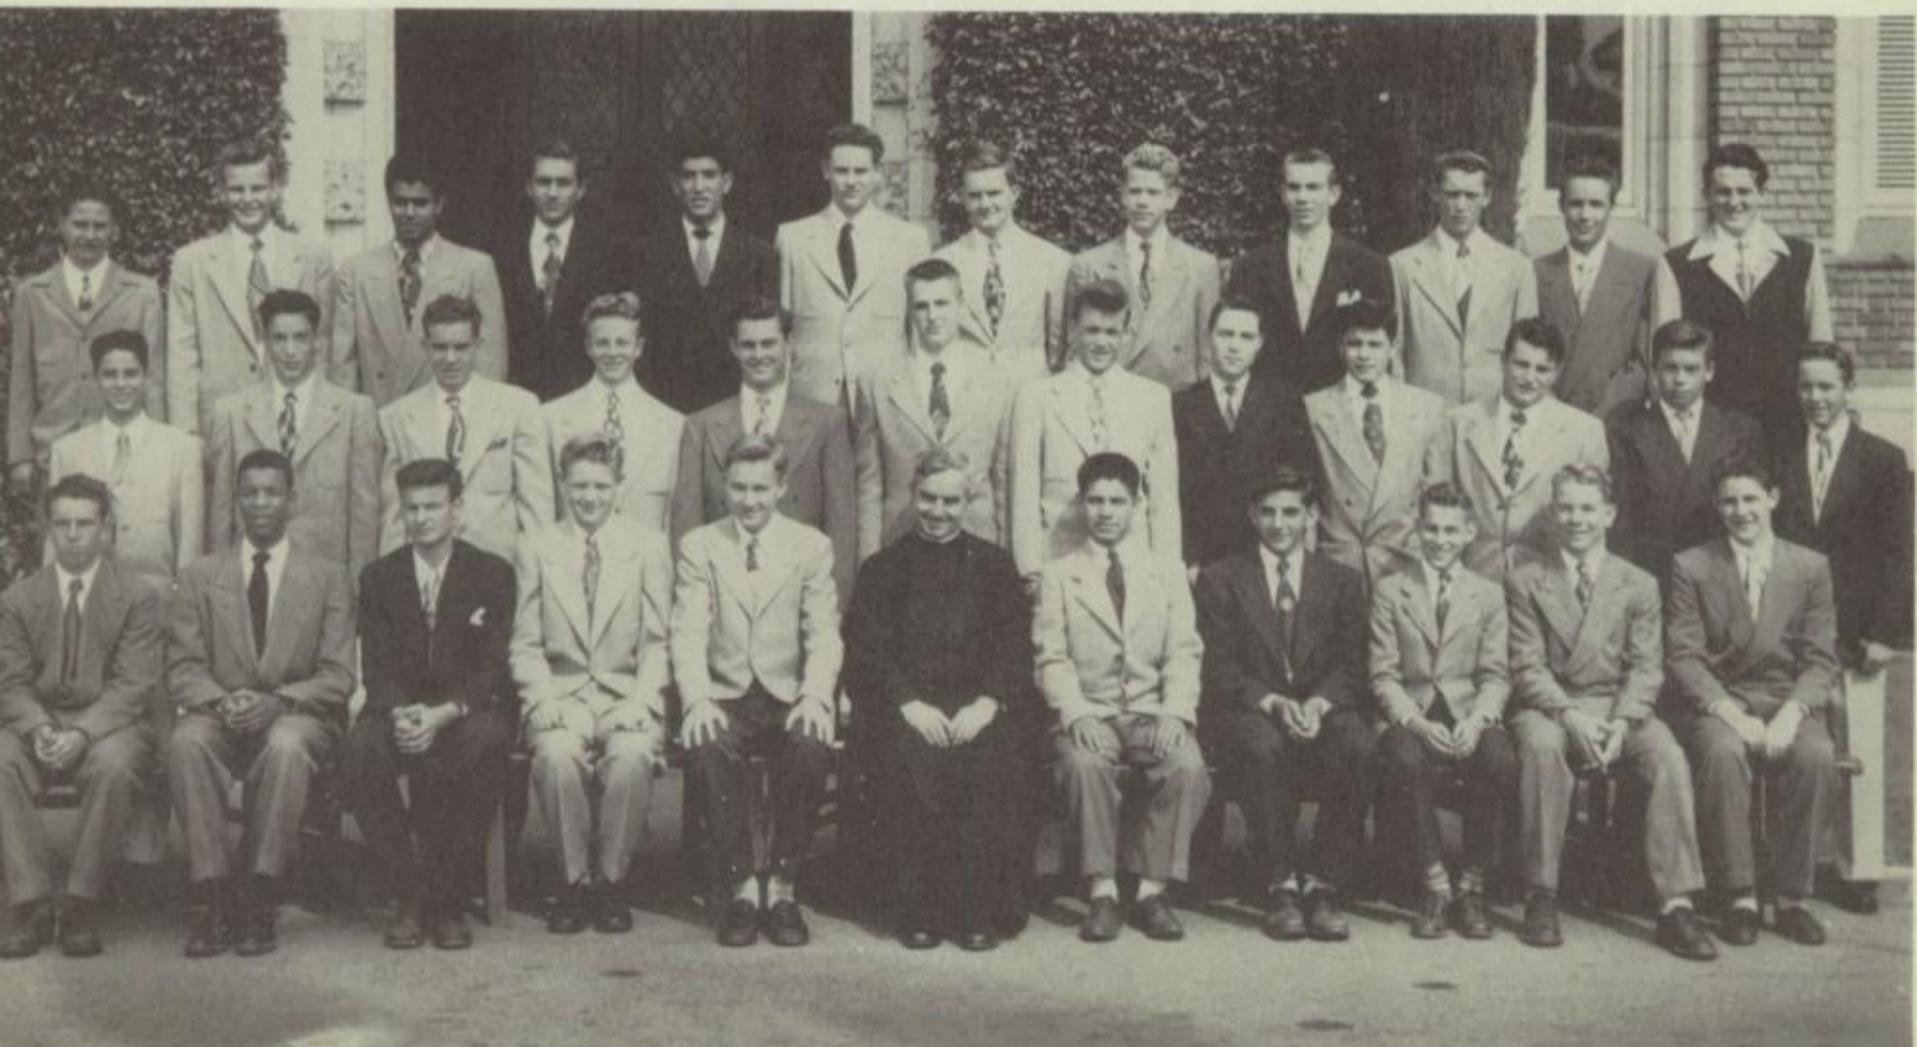

In conclusion, the Sophomores will attempt to keep up with the great classes that preceded them at Loyola High School.

FRESHMEN CLASS PRESIDENTS

Michael Enright, Mark Trueblood, Franklin Jeorgensen, Peter Sullivan, Victor Bruno.

CLASS OF '54

This year the Freshman Class was launched to a good start by the annual retreat. They have shown remarkable ability both in studies and athletics. Led by class presidents Pat Hughes, 1A, Miles Walsh 1B, Vic Bruno 1C, Richard Mehren 1D, John Congelosi 1E, Don Staley 1F, Don Lalande 1G, the Freshmen were guaranteed a pleasant year. As average Catholic boys, they took advantage of the many sports—football, baseball, basketball, and swimming.

The annual Freshman Elocution contest was won by John Bussino, 1F, with his recitation of "Sparticus to the Gladiators". Second place went to Robert Walecki, 1E, and third place to Patrick Carey, 1G.

Participating in such events as the Christmas Can Drive, the Elocution Contest, and the Freshman Sodality, they have taken a sincere interest in Loyola and have shown themselves promising students of the future.

Loyola Off Guard

On the preceding approximately 119½ pages of this profusely-illustrated tome, you have seen scores of well-posed and expertly executed photographs, representing the many and varied activities, sports and recreations in which the men of Loyola engaged during the past year.

Now, in this special supplement, we present a candid glimpse of a different Loyola—the Loyola of Jug, demerits, and ball point pens. Here is a project, never before attempted: a casual, unretouched portrait which reveals the Loyola man as he really is. Our dauntless cameramen have risked life and limb to secure these remarkably realistic snapshots of the student as he goes about his everyday, unextraordinary routine. No effort or expense has been spared to bring you face to face to the stark unmitigated truth about the real Loyola.

Thus we present this brilliant pictorial panorama, with the ardent hope that it will not come as too great a shock to the uninitiated reader.

All the Luxuries of Home! John Flynn and Al Cornelius nurse Ade Eitner back to health.

Comes the First El Camino

FROM THE PRESS OF CALIFORNIA YEARBOOK GUILD

It is with a great deal of pride that we point to the 1951 El Camino annual of Loyola High School as the first edition of this book to come from our offset presses.

Coming to you, years hence, are recollections which only your 1951 El Camino can arouse... your campus... your year, your work, your fun... your personalities... your achievements.

And with this First El Camino comes to us a just pride that our efforts will preserve your Loyola High School days within your easy reach.

CALIFORNIA YEARBOOK GUILD

"The Success of Your Annual is Our Concern"

327 TOWNE AVENUE • LOS ANGELES 13, CALIFORNIA

TELEPHONE Michigan 6441

The staff leaves its thanks till the last page, not because we think gratitude unimportant, but because we want it to cover absolutely everything on the previous 127 pages.

To the faculty we are especially thankful: to Fr. Harrington and Fr. Saussotte for their suggestions and encouragement, and to Mr. Hilsdale, S. J. for his active help as faculty moderator.

Mr. Jack Christy, as in all past years, has given us the best in photography, along with endless patience. To Mr. Kenneth Stevener goes very much of the credit for the shape and artistic format of this book. We thank him for his suggestions and his work.

Morneau Typographers set all our type. Their proofs were wonderfully clean and accurate—they even corrected some of our poor spelling. To California Yearbook Guild goes our thanks for their efficient printing; and to Mr. Garrison of Bindex our real gratitude for the fact that never once did we even worry about the cover or the binding.

Finally the editors wish to express their gratitude to the student body of Loyola, for whom this book is written, and whose appreciation of the 1951 El Camino will be the finest reward for those who produced it.
